CANNOT STARVE BRITAIN SAYS PREMIER

LLOYD GEORGE HAS GOOD WORD TO SAY TO THE COMMONS

British Store of Wheat Has Greatly Increased in Year and Germany's U-Boats Hardly Holding Own.

ANNOUNCES GAINS ON BELGIAN FRONT

London, Aug. 16.—Premier Lloyd-George speaking in the house of commons this afternoon said that this time last year the wheat in this country amounted to 6,480,000 quarters and that now it is 8,500,000 quarters. The stock of oats and barley, he declared, also was higher.

"The government has come to the conclusion," Premier Lloyd-George said, "that with reasonable economy there is no chance of starving England out."

"The admiralty plans for dealing with submarines have been increasingly successful."

The British premier said that in the single month of April 560,000 gross tons of shipping were lost through Teuton submarines. In July the tonnage lost went down to 320,000 gross tons. This month there was a substantial improvement over that of July. The net losses since the commencement of Germany's unrestricted submarine warfare was under 250,000 tons a month.

The premier said: "Germany now is barely able to hold her own—not even that."

Premier Lloyd-George said that in the first six months of this year the new tonnage built was 484,000 while in the last six months including purchases the new tonnage would be 1,424,000. The premier also said that a considerable addition had been made in the program of naval construction.

There has been considerable saving in bread consumption, the premier said, and owing to closer milking and food economy there had been an addition to the wheat stock of 70,000 quarters per week. (A quarter is equivalent to 480 pounds.)

Mr. Lloyd George said the acreage under cultivation showed an increase

AMERICANS SHOW FINE

Review of Army in France Discloses Something to Be Proud Of.

GEN. SIBERT FEELS THAT WAY ABOUT IT

First Fighting Force on Other Side Amazes the French Folks.

American Field Headquarters in France, Aug. 16.—The review yesterday by Major General William L. Sibert, of all the troops of his command in training for the trenches afforded a military spectacle of international significance and historic importance.

It was the first time that the troops of this particular unit of the American army in France had been assembled in its entirety and the display they made was deeply impressive.

There have been other reviews of American troops in foreign lands—in the Philippines, Cuba, for away Guam and Panama—but there seemed to be an entirely new meaning to the sturdy tramp of the men of America in France today. One saw in them the symbol of their country's new adventure.

General Very Proud. "They made me feel very proud," declared Maj. Gen. Sibert last night, echoing the sentiment of a small but enthusiastic little band of Americans who were permitted to see the martial display. The setting for the review was one of rare beauty. It was held upon a broad and somewhat rocky plateau in the fields of France, rippling away in every direction, all green and brown with glowing crops and ripening grains.

Here and there picturesque little French villages, white walled and red roofed, snuggled amid the trees of valleys. Occasionally these valleys were bathed in sunshine and again they were hidden in the gray of rain. The scene was one of changing brilliance and shadow, of deep blue of the harvest sky and August sun being covered by storm clouds, being driven along by a stiffening gale.

At one time during the review a rain storm broke over the marching troops but it was only of brief duration and there was not a falter in any part of the line.

Booms Furnish Thunder. There is an officers' bombing school near where the review was held, and loud explosions gave an air of war reality to the picture. Very early in the morning the troops were on the move.

Attached to his staff were half a dozen French officers, including the general of a famous division, all of whom were enthusiastic in their praise of the spectacle. Maj. Gen. Sibert sat slowly rode up and down before the various regiments drawn up at attention. The ground was staked out with American flags and when Gen. Sibert had taken up his position the immobile army began to move. The maneuvers by which it broke from regimental fronts into lines of platoons arranged by companies and battalions,

SELECTED TO GO TO FRANCE

Alfred M. Foellinger and Franz J. Schulte Will Leave for Front.

TO BE TRAINED IN MODERN WARFARE

Will Then Return to Help Drill New American Army.

Two Fort Wayne young men, Alfred M. Foellinger and Franz J. Schulte, have been selected to go to France as members of the company of new officers who are to be sent there as students, to be given training in the new methods of modern warfare.

Both of the young men were at the officers' training camp at Fort Benjamin Harrison. Foellinger was given a commission as first lieutenant and Schulte as second lieutenant. The young men are to sail from some Atlantic port the latter part of the month.

It is the plan of the government to send a number of young men as students to the front in France. After a time these officers are to return to this country, and will help get the American troops in shape for the kind of warfare now being employed.

The young officers are directed by their orders to report themselves ready at an eastern port not later than Aug. 29 to sail. It is a distinction to be chosen for this service.

UNCLE SAM MAY TAKE HAND IN A COAL STRIKE

Knoxville, Tenn., Aug. 16.—The next step in the coal strike in Kentucky and Tennessee will probably be taken by the federal government. Frederick Davis, commissioner of conciliation of the department of labor, stated today that he had made a complete report of the situation to his department and that there was prospect of an early termination of the strike.

RECRUITING WORK REMAINS STEADY

Newly Ordained Officers In-

Words of warning are issued by Maj. Thomas F. Ryan, of the regular army recruiting station, to young men of this vicinity who endeavor to enlist after they have received the call from their local conscription boards.

The result of the try will be trouble, states the major, as a young man who has received the call must perjure himself in order to get into any branch of the service as a volunteer. Anyone who secures a fraudulent enlistment because he perjures himself will receive a heavy punishment including a lengthy sentence in a federal prison.

On the other hand, however, the major invites all other young men to come to the office and enlist now before the next call for drafted men will be issued. There are still many attractive branches of the service open.

Recruiting work remains steady at the regular army recruiting station. Fifteen men were sent to Fort Thomas, Ky., from the local station Wednesday evening.

COMING HOME.

Eben Lane, Another Fort Wayne Boy, Gets Commission in California.

A telegram was received Thursday morning by C. R. Lane from his son, Eben, saying that the latter will arrive home next Saturday afternoon from the officers' training camp at the Presidio, San Francisco, where he won the commission of a second lieutenant in the quartermaster's department. He was given a furlough of twelve days and must report for further special schooling in the duties of his branch of the service at American Lake, thirteen miles out of Tacoma. This is his first visit home for three years.

Drill on Streets.

Company E drilled on the streets on West Wayne, Thursday morning, because the Central league park was unavailable due to the fact that the Fort Wayne ball team is at home the remainder of the week. However the plans of the officers were carried out in full.

Gets Another Promotion. Stable Sergeant William Moore, a former member of Company E, has officers to his friends in this city stating that he has received a first promotion and that he has been made regimental supply sergeant.

FOR WHY SHOULD UNCLE SAM GRAB THEM, IF HE DID

Mexico City, Aug. 16.—Sub-secretary of State Ernesto G. Perez last night sent instructions to Ambassador Bonillas in Washington to investigate alleged reports that Mexicans are being forced into the United States army. A number of members of the chamber of deputies called on President Carranza to ask that action be taken on the same subject. The house of deputies was expected to decide today whether they would adjourn until the regular session, September 1.

FRENCH U-BOAT LOSSES DURING WEEK ARE LESS

Paris, Wednesday, Aug. 15.—The weekly report of shipping losses gives one steamship of more than 1,600 tons and three of smaller size as having been sunk in the week ended Aug. 12 out of 1,010 arrivals and 1,028 clearances at French ports. Five French vessels were attacked unsuccessfully by submarines.

FRESH DRIVE IS HURLED AGAINST TEUTONIC LINES

GAINS AROUND LENS ARE BEING HELD

British Front in France and Belgium, Aug. 16.—(By the Associated Press)—Forces of the entente allies at daybreak today began another drive against the troops of Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria, along a wide front from a point opposite Polygon wood, east of Ypres, to the left of the French positions on the northward.

In the first onslaught the right flank of the French surged across the Steenbeke river and at the same time the left wing pushed forward correspondingly.

These meager facts represent the total news at this hour from the zone of the new offensive with the exception that the French already have counted a hundred prisoners.

ALLIES MAKING PROGRESS.

London, Aug. 16.—Troops of the entente allies in Flanders attacked the German positions today on a wide front east and north of Ypres in Belgium. The official report of Field Marshal Haig says that progress is being made.

On the Lens front where the Canadians yesterday captured hill 70 and made further progress in the environs of the French mining center, all German counter attacks, the official statement added, were repulsed.

THE FRENCH REPORT.

Paris, Aug. 16.—French troops in Belgium, attacking early today in conjunction with the British.

Summary of the Day's War News

In three sectors of the Franco-Belgian front the French and British have won new successes in their offensive operations, which are once more in full swing. Attacks were made by the British in Belgium near Ypres, by the French on the Alsace front and near Dixmude, in Belgium. The ground won by the British in yesterday's brilliant attack near Lens, including the highly important hill 70, was held in the face of all German counterattacks, General Haig reports.

While the British were consolidating their new territory near Lens and defending it against German efforts to retrieve their losses they struck another blow about thirty miles further north on a wide front east and north of Ypres. The official report from London gives few details of the battle, but says progress is being made.

The French, with the assistance of British troops on their right, attacked the German positions on both sides of the roads between Steenstraet and Dixmude, eight miles apart.

Paris reports that all objectives were gained and that a crossing of the

NO PROBABILITY OF ACCEPTANCE

Attempt Will Be Made to Prevent Open Discussion in Senate.

Washington, Aug. 1.—The text of Pope Benedict's peace note, received here early today in cabled dispatches from London, discloses that it does not differ from the unofficial outline previously received.

The foundation stones of the pope's proposals for ending the world conflict are reduction of armaments, freedom of the seas, settlement of all international disputes by arbitration and that there shall be no retaliatory struggle for economic world supremacy after the war.

Study It Closely.

Publication here today of the text of the pope's proposal gave officials and allied diplomats opportunity to make a closer study of the vatican's move for peace than was possible from the advance outline.

Officials while evincing much interest refrained from making any comment pending receipt of the official text of the pope's communication nor would they intimate the nature of the reply to be sent the vatican. The official text was expected momentarily. The text of the communication served to strengthen the prevalent opinion that there is no likelihood of the proposals being accepted in their present form. That public opinion in the allied countries, insistent on a favorable decisive culmination of hostilities, will cause the offer to be rejected was generally conceded here.

LONDON RAVES OVER PAGEANT OF AMERICANS

London, Aug. 16.—The parade of American soldiers in London divided with the new Lens battle and the pope's peace the most prominent columns of this morning's newspapers. The description of the march and incidents filling in some papers three columns.

J. H. P. HUGHART DIES FROM INJURIES

President of the G. R. & I. Stricken While at Home of His Brother.

J. H. P. Hughart, president of the Grand Rapids and Indiana railroad, died at a hospital in Grand Rapids Thursday morning. The first Associated Press dispatch received by the Sentinel Thursday morning stated that Mr. Hughart was in a serious condition as the result of a stroke of paralysis suffered late Wednesday. He was stricken at the home of his brother, the dispatch said. Later came a dispatch stating that death was due to injuries sustained by a fall.

Mr. Hughart was with the G. R. & I. road many years, succeeding his father, W. O. Hughart, as president. Prior to taking that office he was general manager several years and the duties of that office took him over the line frequently, bringing him in personal touch with all the division and other officials, many who are employed in other capacities and with the business men, manufacturers and people generally at all points along the line. And his congenial and hearty manners made him friends everywhere. News of his death will be a shock to all. This is the second blow of the kind to fall upon G. R. & I. officials within the past three months, the first being the fatal accident to Supt. J. W. Hunter, a former resident of Fort Wayne.

GASH CUT IN HEAD.

Machinist C. L. McElfick Victim of Accident.

C. L. McElfick, in term of service one of the old machinists at the Pennsylvania shops, sustained an injury to his head yesterday afternoon, which is most painful and which will keep him from work for some days. He had a valve rod in his machine, dressing it down to the required size, and when he was in a stooping position, getting something out of his tool chest, the rod came loose and dropped down, striking him and cutting a long gash back of the ear in the head. The blow knocked Mr. McElfick down. His shop companions rushed to his assistance and assisted him to the office, where first aid was given, and he was able to walk around. The doctor had to take several stitches in closing the wound.

Rufus Klopfenstein has returned to this city from Grabbill to resume his duties at the General Electric works, after a week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Klopfenstein.

P. H. Gode, J. P. Keizer and H. C. Jacobs, motive power inspectors of the Pennsylvania, who had been working in the Pittsburgh district several days, have returned home.

Charles W. Miller, machinist at the Pennsylvania tool room, is feeling jubilant over the result of his display at the potato show last night. As will be seen in the list of prizes, he "scored" in the fifty pound class of lard.

The Bowser social committee, representing the Bowser Military club, met last night to clear up affairs connected with the monster affair held at Swinney park last week. Although no totals were reached, it is evident that the Bowserites will have a large margin to overlap their expense account.

Henry Stute, piece work price card clerk at the Pennsylvania machine shop, resumed his duties this morning, after an absence to accompany his wife and children to Wisconsin, where they will remain with relatives two or three weeks. Mr. Stute will go after them when they complete the visit.

FEARFUL INCREASE IN DISEASE.

Better Balanced Natural Foods One of the Chief Remedies Proposed.

It may not be generally known that the people of the United States consume 74,000,000 pounds of drugs per annum; that there are 8,600 hospitals for caring for the sick and infirm; that there are being built about 700 new hospitals per year at a cost of some $250,000,000; that about 8,000,000 people spend an average of three weeks each year in these hospitals.

Summed up it means that something is radically wrong with us.

The remarkable discoveries of scientific investigations during the past few years shed a great light on the cause of disease, theretofore wholly unsuspected.

It has been found that unless the body has certain elements in its food disaster is certain to follow. Not the quantity of food taken, or even its extreme purity, is so important as the essential elements it must contain.

Nature in her profound wisdom has compounded in food substances chemical and mineral elements so skillfully that man has never been able to successfully duplicate her compositions.

Some of these food substances have been refined and re-refined until they are utterly foodless and yield nothing but trouble and disease to the user.

There is no reason why men and women should be sick, if they get a sound body to start with and can get proper nourishment daily. But there's the rub. Proper nourishment is almost as hard to get out of the average kitchen and pantry, and especially is this so in the cities, as water in the desert.

This is due largely to lack of information, or misinformation.

It may not be generally understood that there are but two food substances known to man which contain all the elements of nutrition. These foods are whole milk and whole wheat. Authorities regard these as supplying a perfect ration when used in combination.

But where are we to get whole wheat? We no longer get it in our bread, as that is entirely demineralized, devitalized and denuded of its bran, in which all the mineral elements are hidden.

A new food product prepared from wheat is being marketed under the name of WHOLE GRAIN WHEAT. This product is the whole wheat berry in its whole state, just as nature fashioned and ripened it in the harvest field.

This is the first time whole wheat in its whole state, prepared ready to eat in a palatable form from which nothing has been taken away and to which nothing has been added but a little sugar and salt to increase its palatability, has been offered to the public.

This WHOLE GRAIN WHEAT is prepared ready to eat and is put up in sanitary tins hermetically sealed so that it may be kept indefinitely. It brings back to the user the real staff of life.

Do not you see where this position led us? Don't you see that we can be sure of quality and only way that we can be sure of quality and sanitary methods of handling is to know who manufactures the goods and where they are manufactured. Therefore we must have the individual package and the name article. We are no longer satisfied with a nondescript article or "private brand." The twentieth century housewife wants to hold her man accountable for the goods she buys. So rapidly is this demand for trade-marked

Young Man's Unusual Answer Surprises Physicians.

Hartford City, Ind., Aug. 16.—A real red-blooded American was before the conscription board here yesterday for examination. He is Harry Horton, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Horton. Horton is married and about thirty years old.

When he stepped before Dr. W. A. Hollis, one of the examiners, he said: "Say, if you find anything wrong with my eyes or my teeth I want you to tell me, will you?"

"Why?" asked the doctor.

"Because I want to go and get them fixed," Horton replied.

The answer was so unusual that it took the physician by surprise.

"Then you're not fooling?" he asked.

"No," said Horton.

"And you don't intend to claim exemption?" inquired the doctor.

"No," the registrant replied. "If I am physically fit I am willing to go, because I feel that it is a duty I owe to my country."

Horton's attitude was refreshing to the physician compared with the attempt of some young men to escape service by pretending physical disability.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 16, 1917.

THE POETIC ELEMENT.

The first raw conclusions of the world at large are, of course, that in the tribulation that has overtaken the Romanoffs the poetic element of justice enters. Perhaps that is true. Along with him in his exile to Siberia Nicholas Romanoff, late czar of all the Russians, will carry the reflection, poignant with many agonies, that he is traveling the fated road of uncounted thousands of Russians who have preceded him to that dreary land by the hard and autocratic dictum of himself and the crowned heads of his forebears.

Something more practical than poetic retribution appears, however, to enter into the conclusions that have dictated the severities with which the provisional government of Russia is treating the former czar and his family. There is more than an unreasoning suspicion that the fallen dynasty is ready to "come back" if such a political coup can be managed. It would be strange, indeed, if this were not true. The history of deposed monarchs and fallen dynasties is that in the breasts of the mighty no less than in the bosoms of the lowly hove springs eternal. The Orleans and the Bonapartes still dream their gilded dreams of a French throne restored, though it is well on to a century since the last king swayed France and near a half century since the Napoleonic dynasty went down at Sedan. But so it has gone the ages through, and so it is likely to go with the Romanoffs in Russia.

Since his abdication Nicholas II. and his family have been very comfortably quartered in enforced residence at the imperial palace in Tsarskoe-Sele, near Petrograd. Irksome, no doubt, it has been with many monotonies, but relieved by the association of familiar things and whatever can be conceived as humanly domestic in an imperial palace. So the imprisoned royal family has not fared badly at all. Perhaps it is lucky to be still living. The world has not yet recovered from its amazement that the revolution in Russia dealt so moderately with the deposed family and its connections. Dethroned monarchs are not as a common thing entirely safe appendages of a liberated state. Any designs of the monarchical party in Russia would be crystallized about the czar, the young heir or some other member of the family and presence would lend inspiration no less than pretext and opportunity. Recently it has been detailed in dispatches from Russia that the loss of morale and the partial disintegration of the Slav armies were in large part due to the insidious work of thousands of former police and spies of the czar that had been hurried into the ranks to preach discontent and lay the way for a counter revolution, which consummation it takes no imagination or cunning of thought to understand as a thing dear to Berlin and the object of its extensive secret diplomacy and subtle espionage in Russia since the revolution.

The provisional government is taking time by the forelock in exiling Nicholas and his family and putting them where they can be better guarded and may be less readily reached by conspirators against the new state. There might, too, come a time when the spectacle of the czar and the czarina and the czarovitch and the grand duchesses of the lately reigning family in their prison so near the capital would excite compassion. A more acute peril might be that in case of a coup in Petrograd the dethroned Nicholas in Tsarskoe-Sele would not have to be toted far to be made the re-enthroned Nicholas in the winter palace. Siberia is not so drear and desolate as it has been painted. Nicholas and his family are not going to the storied terrors of the quicksilver mines. Tobolsk, where they are to have residence, is a considerable city, which probably has a good market, movies and something that can answer to the late autocrat for a ballet. Nicholas and Alix might have fared much worse. The upsetting of the throne and the imprisonment of the czar and czarina provoked a voluminous citation of the fates of the sixteenth Louis of France and the haughty Marie Antoinette.

CANNOT BE IGNORED.

The peace proposals put forth by the vatican cannot be ignored, nor is there likely to be any want of serious attention to them on the part of the allies. To begin with, any peace proposal merits an examination and weighing, and surely one issuing from the vatican will be treated with not only all the respect it can claim, but with the most sincere hope that it may be found answerable to the difficulties of the international situation.

The promptitude with which allied governments have ascribed inspiration of Pope Benedict's humane essay to get a hearing from the belligerents for a proposal for seeking possible bases of peace to the Austrian government implies no imputation of an ex-parte interest of the pope in the concerns of the dual empire. Austria is well-known to be anxious for peace; to quit the war where it is and go back to the status quo ante and probably to join in any measures the world can agree upon for perpetuation of peace and the security of all nations, great and small. Austria has had a bellyful of war. It has brought her nothing but woe and it has cost her some of her imperial dignity and no small measure of her national independence. She is dominated today both in war and in government by Germany and could not pull out of the strife if she would. Very probably Austria has sought papal intercessions for peace on any basis that will save her integrity and lift the German incubus from her. The status quo ante, territorial restorations and a world league for peace would accomplish for Austria the most that she now desires and more than she can hope for either in the event of a German victory or an allied peace. The suspicion that the original impulse of the pope's proposals came from Germany is not tenable, though the sequel may disclose the fact. Germany is less ready to quit than Austria, though there can be no reasonable questioning of the thing that lies heaviest upon the heart of the German people in the mass. Prussianism, the dynasty and the war caste generally still have faith in themselves—nor altogether without reason. Germany is concealing a most interesting and spectacular collapse if she is today anywhere near whipped. Her lines hold firm on all fronts, her armies are making something of a conclusion of the Russian debacle and her U-boats are today no less the great menace of democracy than they were half a year ago.

But the pope's peace proposals, no matter whence coming or how inspired, must have and will obtain a fair hearing, though upon their face they suggest much less than can form the basis of an enduring peace, much less than can vouchsafe justice to Belgium, Serbia and Poland. Yet, any peace proposals of the breadth given those in Benedict's letter to the belligerents, afford some ground for trial at getting together. These furnish, at least, an opportunity for a restatement on all hands of war aims and that gives each belligerent group an opportunity to disclose just how possible an early peace may be. The pope's proposals will not be ignored.

AS MAKING A SUGGESTION.

Fort Wayne's big show for the proper glorification of the potato patch patriots was a more interesting event and a much greater success than a good many thought it would be. It brought out a large exhibit of potatoes and a better exhibit of a spirit that it is reassuring to see disclosing itself. And in this potato patch fete we see the possibilities of a greater and more comprehensive event that may as well be scheduled as a kind of harvest home festival in the broad national spirit and for which it is not too early to begin preparations at once. Those who were the promoters and organizers of the event just successfully completed can very handily continue themselves in office and go ahead with the preliminaries for the more pretentious festival six or eight weeks hence. The whole of Allen county can be included in the scope of the affair and if any other sections of the north-eastern part of the state want to come in to fuse their spirit of patriotism with our own and match potatoes and pumpkins and squashes and corn and whatever else will look good and toothsome and thrifty and as of help in the war, let them be invited to come along with us. Is it a bad notion? Muse over it, fellows, and you who made the potato patch patriots' fete day a success see what you can make of this.

The aspersion of Senator LaFollette as a non-patriotic or a disloyal American does the Wisconsin statesman some injustice probably. His job for some thirty years has been to oppose the majority, to keep himself in the limelight by fighting against what is—good or bad, it is all one to him—and making himself the center of turmoil and the figure in the spotlight. Aggressive patriotism is common today in congress and out of it. LaFollette could not exploit himself much as a patriot, hence—the other side of it for him.

Motives.
Sometimes I sit here and wonder,
When the day's stern tasks are through,
Here and there a costly blunder,
Here and there a rank failure, too,
What the mother, who broods o'er me,
In that place for saints apart,
Would say, were she here before me,
Of the motive in my heart.

Would she understand I'm doing,
Day by day the best I can,
Though I please but few, pursuing
Savage tolls that make the man?
Would she smile in ways that never
Failed to heal me of the smart
In those days she asked me ever
Of the motive in my heart?

Would she see that I am trying
To paint truth all clear and fair,
In this world where Love seems dying,
And Hate blossoms everywhere?
Through the hurting and the hating,
Where black shadows rise and start,
Would she know, my mother waiting,
Of the motive in my heart?

Yes, I know my gracious mother
Would believe that all I do
Is but done dark wrongs to smother,
While I lift the pure and true,
She would find there is no malice,
She would know I evils thwart,
And she'd see Love make a chalice
Of the motive in my heart.

But we, the people, vile and worthless things—
Held by the great as somewhat in their way—
Must huddle in the pit and hear the play.
Our parts to pay, and that we never miss,
But when the farce is poor, we say our say;
And for our money, we, the actors, hiss!

Consolation.
The examining boards are having their own troubles these days. Some of the men who pass through the ordeal safely look pretty sick. They should be told by the board the story of the brave mother who tried to console her despondent son by saying, "Well, anyway, dear, you've got your health left."

RACE GROWING SMALLER RECRUITING SHOWS AND BANTAMS GET A CHANCE

BY L. HARPER LEECH.

The army of 1917 will be an army of bantams compared to the boys of '61.

The minimum height for the army used to be 64 inches. Now it's 61.

The army will be thinner, too.

Provost Marshal Gen. Crowder has given exemption boards a ruling from Surgeon Gen. Gorgas reducing the required weights for men of 64 to 75 inches in height from 5 to 10 pounds, according to height.

Chest measurements for men over 68 inches are reduced one-half an inch.

The height reduction made before the selective service law was put into operation on recommendation of the National Council of Research.

The council found the old standard—64 inches—had been adopted when the country was populated principally by the tallest races, North Europeans, negroes and Indians.

If retained, at least one-fourth of the southern Slavs, south Italians, Russians and Austrian Jews, French and Swiss would have escaped military service.

The 61-inch minimum contrasts poorly with the average heights of civil war soldiers. The average of 250,000 recruits for the federal armies was over 67 inches, the native Americans of Kentucky, Tennessee, Ohio and Indiana leading with an average of over 68 inches. New Englanders, Canadians and men from west of the Mississippi followed closely.

Swedes and Scots led the foreigners of '61; the Irish led both the English and the Germans who trailed last with an average of 66 2-3 inches.

All were big boned men of the tallest races ever bred. It was an age of farmers, outdoor work and cheap food.

Since that time have come the hordes of smaller men from the Mediterranean countries, descended from generations of town dwellers.

The civil war itself helped cut down the height of the native stocks, as the biggest men perished and left the smaller ones to be fathers.

As the bulk of the federal armies were under 21 years of age—few of the men killed had any representative in the next generation.

The physical results of the sweat shop and factories can be read today in the small men of the British armies recruited from factory towns, who are topped by the Frenchmen, in spite of the fact that France today tells the story of the Napoleonic carnage in the shrunken stature of her men.

Reports from various sections of the country show that there are whole sections of the population which have deteriorated in other ways.

The southern negro, once the hunkiest of humans, still furnishes Jack Johnsons from the country and smaller towns, but in the cities a terrifying percent are hopelessly diseased. In some of the city districts populated by sweat shop workers a large percent of the men are useless for soldiers.

Senator Pomerene's bill to take the rejects into training camps and "re-pair" them by good food, exercise, fresh air and minor surgery, points the way which should have been taken in time of peace if the country's manhood had received half the attention which has been given the hogs.

The new ruling of Surgeon General Gorgas sending men with defective teeth to a dentist at government expense if necessary—is another revolutionary thing war has brought.

Both ideas probably will retard the war, and make any government with have inspectors and surgeons to keep up the human live stock, which makes up the United States.

Most of the physical defects in America can be made into real men if given enough to eat and plenty of fresh air.

Simple medical attention often produces a miracle.

About five doses of hook worm purgative has changed many a southern farm boy from a scrawny little runt into a six-foot giant in less than 12 months.

A gain of five inches in height in a year and a pound a week has often followed this simple treatment.

BIRDMEN BORN, SAYS AIRMAN DODGE; CAN'T TURN 'EM OUT AT WILL

Take my own class for example. Out of the 45 men who entered with me, there were only five who were not college athletes of local or national reputation.

There was George Church, of Princeton, the tennis champion; P. D. Smith, of Dartmouth, shot-putter and all-round weight man; "Rod" Tower, Harvard, son of the former ambassador, who has done some great stunts on the track; Carroll Weatherly, Lafayette football star, who was in France with a machine gun squad and is now back to fly for Uncle Sam; Bud Jacobs, of the Yale swimming team; Kilgore, ex-captain of the Penn lacrosse team, and lots of others.

The men in aviation whom I've come in contact with are the finest bunch of fellows in the world. Every man is full of red blood and pep and went in for flying because it offered the finest chance for adventure and clean fighting that ever existed. It's real man-to-man fighting in the air service—you aren't shooting at somebody ten miles off that you will never see—and this naturally attracts men of spirit and courage.

At first they would only accept for the aviation corps men with college training. Then they changed the requirements to include high school graduates who, in the opinion of the examining board, have the qualities a flyer must have.

Really first-class flyers are born, not made. You would think that a man who had been driving a racing automobile would have a big advantage over the fellow who has never handled any kind of a machine. But it doesn't always work out that way.

Some of the men who have learned to fly quickest never drove an auto or handled any other machinery. Other men who were crack auto drivers never seem to get the knack of handling an airplane. It seems that if you are born to fly, you fly, and if you aren't there is not much hope for you.

In an auto you have time to think out what you are going to do, but in an airplane you have to do the right thing first and think about it afterward. Everything happens so fast, thinking is impossible. The mechanic and flyer who always looks ahead and then waits to see what happens, can't fly.

encies is not the best flyer, he doesn't react quickly enough when the unexpected happens.

Flying in itself is the finest sport in the world and when you combine aerial gunnery with it and get out on the front hunting the biggest game in the world, the German airmen, I am sure nothing can compare with it.

I don't see how any young American with red blood can resist the temptation to enlist as one of Uncle Sam's flyers.

EMBARRASSING.

It must be rather embarrassing to a prominent member of congress, after attempting to alarm the nation by announcing in his impassioned way that President Wilson has usurped the powers of the legislative branch and is now a virtual dictator, to discover that everybody with any sense is glad of it.

Uncle Harry Tells About The Prisoners of War

"The other night in telling us about the war's losses you spoke about the prisoners; won't you tell us about them?" asked Helen.

"They'll go back to their own countries when the war is over, won't they?" asked Jimmy.

"Yes, the soldiers taken as prisoners by each side will be returned to their own countries when peace comes," said Uncle Harry. "and, practically without exception, they will be wiser and better men."

"What do you mean, Uncle Harry? I thought all prisoners of war suffered terribly in their prisons," said Joe.

"Most of them did in the civil war, didn't they?"

"Many of the soldiers taken as prisoners in the civil war did have horrible experiences," said Uncle Harry. "And so have many of the soldiers captured in the present war, especially those captured in the early part of Berlin, Germany admitted that more than 300,000 of her soldiers had been taken prisoners, and when you remember that the French have also lost heavily in prisoners, and add to these the English, Belgians, Italians, Austrians, Serbians, Rumanians, Bulgarians, Turks and Montenegrans that have been captured in the hundred of battles, you can readily see that the total number of prisoners must run even over 3,000,000."

"Uncle Harry, you said that some of the prisoners were really enjoying themselves; which ones did you mean? Tell us about them," said Joe.

"I had in mind particularly the German prisoners in England," said Uncle Harry. "There are about 70,000 of them, as I said, and the British government has spent millions of dollars taking care of them—and it's good care that has been given them, too. Their camps are regular villages, with houses especially built for them, stores the fighting by the German and Austrian armies, and the Russian army under the czar. They were treated brutally and starved. Sanitary conditions were neglected and epidemics of disease broke out. There was typhus fever in some of the German prison camps and many of the prisoners died."

"Didn't the armies that had captured the prisoners want to take care of them?" asked Helen.

"They didn't have time to," said Uncle Harry. "The war came so swiftly and continued at such a furious pace during the first six months or year that prisoners taken by Germany and Austria and Russia were neglected frightfully. Later, however, better care has been taken of the prisoners, and in some of the countries, particularly in England, the German prisoners, numbering about 70,000, are really enjoying life."

"About how many soldiers have been taken prisoners in the war?" asked Jimmy.

"I can't give you a definite answer to that question, Jimmy," said Uncle Harry, "but I can give you an estimate, which is about the best anyone can do at this time. Altogether I should say there are somewhere between 2,000,000 and 3,000,000 prisoners. You see, they are scattered among all the countries in Europe, and England and France hold quite a number of German prisoners in Africa, where almost all the German armies have been captured by the allies; and there are still others in Asia, where the Japanese have taken possession of German territory. Russia and Austria have undoubtedly lost the greatest number of prisoners, some reports being that more than 1,000,000 Russians are held in Germany and Austria."

"In a recent official report from

"I should think these prisoners would be very friendly toward England," said Jimmy.

"They are," said Uncle Harry. "In addition to the fact that the treatment they are receiving is human, it is also very wise treatment on the part of the English. The British government has seized this opportunity to make friends with these Germans, many of whom were suspicious of England before the war and feared being captured. When the war ends and they go back to their homes, they will carry to Germany a new impression of England and it will be a favorable one, and this one thing alone is going to be a big factor in keeping peace after it is once made."

Editor's Note—Uncle Harry will be glad to answer inquiries, either in this column or by mail, provided letters are signed with the full name and address of the persons writing. The correspondent's names will not appear in the articles.

Scalp Irritation

Stop It Now!

The heat of the sun dries out the natural oils of the scalp. Dandruff increases. Scalp itching becomes not only unpleasant but even dangerous.

Stop this itching now! You can, with very little trouble! Sprinkle, only twice a week, a little Pompeian HAIR Massage on your scalp. Rub it in the Pompeian way (carefully described in booklet enclosed in every package) and soon your scalp itching will stop.

Pompeian HAIR Massage

Stops Dandruff—Hair Coming Out

The success of Pompeian HAIR Massage is in the "massage" idea. It is a treatment, not merely a tonic. The massaging (rubbing) of the scalp wakes up the roots of the hair to new life. This massaging also opens the pores of the scalp to the wonderfully stimulating liquids in Pompeian HAIR Massage. Dandruff goes. Your hair will become and stay healthy, vigorous and attractive.

Pompeian HAIR Massage is a clear amber liquid (not a cream). Not oily. Not sticky. Very pleasant to use. 25c, 50c and $1 bottles, at the store.

MEN—Have your barber give you a treatment, and prove to yourself how refreshed your scalp feels by one application.

Don't hesitate to use Pompeian HAIR Massage. It is made by the old and reliable makers of Pompeian MASSAGE Cream and Pompeian NIGHT Cream.

Mr. and Mrs. James B. Harper, of Washington boulevard east, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Helen Rowan Harper, to Mr. Chauncey Ruthven McAnlis, of Ithaca, N. Y. Miss Harper is one of this city's most cultured and progressive young women and her many friends entertain both admiration and affection for her. Miss Harper was graduated from Michigan university and she has done some special work at the Fort Wayne Normal school, for which she made preparation at Chicago university. She is a member of Delta Gamma sorority. Mr. McAnlis' parents live near New Castle, Pa., but he is located in Ithaca as a member of the faculty of Cornell university in the civil engineering department. Mr. McAnlis took his degree at the University of Pennsylvania. Several years ago Mr. McAnlis was located in Fort Wayne and at that time made the acquaintance of Miss Harper. The wedding will be a quiet one, but the exact time has not been decided upon.

There is a hurry call just now for knitters in both county and city. Knitters of soldiers' socks are needed. The yarn has arrived and can be obtained at Navy League headquarters. So if you can't knit or "perish the thought," won't knit, then please buy yard that some one who hasn't the money, but has the willing spirit to knit, will convert it into socks. And these are the reasons why Fort Wayne soldier boys are soon going to the front, along with other Indiana men, and each one needs four pairs of wool socks. Fort Wayne has been at the front in everything but this sock knitting, and lack of yarn has hampered the willing workers. Indianapolis has her supply ready. Well, Fort Wayne and Allen county, "same old green spot" are not the places to drop to second place. It costs sixty cents to buy yarn enough to knit one pair of socks. If you don't know how to set 'em up, fashion a heel and "toe off," set someone to show you and in such instances telephones are often useful.

In it were Miss Laura Burg, of this city, and Miss Dorothy Vonderau, of Goeglein, who were maids and Miss Alma Scherer, sister of the groom, who was honor maid, besides two flower children, Ruth and Anita Vonderau, who carried baskets of sunburst roses. The ushers were Messrs. Arthur Heine and Louis Scherer. Miss Hulda Eichhoff, of Indianapolis, sang at the wedding service. Prof. Schlundt was the organist. The bride presented a handsome appearance in a gown of white crepe de meteor with well held with pearl bands and a shower of bride roses and swansonia. The young girls of the bridal party were gowned in rainbow tints of silk or satin and their flowers were pink Killarney roses. A reception to friends and a bountiful wedding supper were features at the bride's home after the wedding service. The rooms were decorated with many garden flowers, pink and white being the prevailing colors. The wedding cake was made by the groom's father, a well known baker, and it was certainly a handsomely built pyramid of sweetness and frosting. BRING CROWDS TO FT. WAYNE

Weekly "Suburban Day" to Be Established by New Association.

WEDNESDAY TO BE MADE A GREAT DAY

All-the-Year-Round Trade and Entertainment for Out-of-Town People.

And now comes the Fort Wayne Suburban Day Trade association, a strong organization of business men who will unite their efforts to focus attention upon Fort Wayne as a great center of trade and entertainment.

All classes of business will be interested in the new organization. As shown by the list of concerns already enrolled, practically every line, including retail business, theaters, hotels, restaurants, opticians, confectioners, florists and many others, will be included by the time the members meet for the formation of their permanent organization, probably next week. Every Wednesday "Suburban Day." The plan of the association is summed up by one of the leaders in the movement as "a united effort to make Fort Wayne a still more popular place of trade and entertainment for the thousands of people in nearby cities and farming districts. In order to do this," said he, "we have issued a general invitation to the business concerns of Fort Wayne to unite in an organization which shall conduct a campaign of publicity and education in a systematic way, and this will be entered upon just as soon as the permanent organization is formed. "One of the primary features of the plan is to establish Wednesday of each week throughout the year as 'Suburban Day.' This means that on every Wednesday the people of Fort Wayne, whether members of the association or not, will take it upon themselves to give the visitors an especially good reason for coming to Fort Wayne, whether they come to trade, attend a theater, hold a family reunion or do anything else that a visitor might plan to do. The members of the association will, however, offer special inducements to the visitors to come on Wednesday. The theaters will have special attractions, the parks will be made more free for the use of out-of-town picnics and other gatherings, and the merchants will offer special inducements of trade in the announcement of 'Suburban Day Specials' through the columns of the newspapers well in advance of the coming of each Wednesday. In short, it will be the object of the new association to center attention upon Wednesday of each week in the whole year as the day when the people of the surrounding country and nearby cities will want to come to Fort Wayne, and when the people of Fort Wayne will be prepared to give them the very best of treatment in every way. To Co-operate With Outside Merchants. Those who are at the head of the new movement wish to make it perfectly plain that the establishment of Suburban Day is largely a plan of co-operation between the Fort Wayne business houses and the merchants of the smaller cities to give to the people a larger field of trade without resorting to the patronage of the mail-order houses or the big-city stores. "We want the people of the smaller cities—Auburn, Waterloo, Garrett, Angola, Kendallville, Lagrange, Columbus City, Roanoke, Monroeville, New Haven, Ossian, and the dozens of other widespread towns—to patronize their home merchants to the fullest extent," said one of the organizers of the new association. "We believe the home merchant deserves the patronage of the home people to the extent that he is able to sell the right goods at the right price. It is only when the people cannot secure what they want from the home merchant that we give a cordial invitation to come to Fort Wayne to trade. It is with the hope of making Fort Wayne a great common meeting place of thousands of out-of-town people that this movement has been started so splendidly. The enlarged patronage of the Fort Wayne stores and business houses cannot be won unless we deserve that patronage and we want to show first that we appreciate the coming of our visitors. Just as soon as the organization is perfected, we shall make a full announcement of our plans."

The organization committee is composed of Charles M. Mills, chairman, Ruride Dry Goods Co.; Robert Koerber, Trenkley & Koerber; George A. Dehm; A. A. Stentz, Walk-Over Boot Shop; C. A. Niebergall, D. & N. Pharmacy; D. N. Foster, Foster Furniture and Carpet Co.; W. H. Right Way to Seal Up Jelly

BY N. E. GOLDTHWAITE. (University of Illinois.)

If jellies are to stand any length of time before using they should be properly sealed from the air. The glasses, having been filled completely with the hot jellies, should be set in a cool place for the contents to harden.

It is well to cover jellies slightly undercooked with panes of glass and harden them in the sun.

When the jellies are well set the glasses should be filled with hot paraffin (the jelly will have shrunk leaving space for this)—not merely melted paraffin, but hot, so all germs on the surface of the jelly will be killed and future trouble from them obviated. Close with hot, clean covers and keep in a cool dry place.

MANY STONES PUT IN WAY

There is Said to Be Quiet Propaganda to Hinder Boys' Reserve Work.

MOVEMENT IS NOT UNDERSTOOD

More Lads Expected to Sign Up for Work Before End of Week.

That there is a quiet propaganda to hinder the work being carried on this week in Indiana in the organization of a boys' working reserve is the general opinion of those back of the movement.

This belief is borne out by the frequency with which the organizers hear the same objections voiced by parents, the principal one of which is that the organization is military in character and a "subterfuge" of the government to get the boys into the army.

It is pointed out by those in charge that the government does not have to resort to any such device to get anybody into the army, and it has no present need, or any prospect of needing boys in military service. The fundamental purpose of the reserve is to enroll boys in civilian occupations to help take the places of men called to the colors.

The argument is made that there are thousands of boys who have no occupation during the summer months, after school hours and on Saturdays. If those boys were organized and set at tasks which they were willing to undertake and for which they were fitted, considerable service might be rendered to the nation, and the labor shortage certain to follow the drafting of men for the army greatly minimized.

There is nothing in the reserve to interfere with the education of the boys and it will not take a boy from productive occupation. While it is not thought the propaganda is organized or conscious, the situation is no doubt the result of a misunderstanding following the circulation of false ideas by thoughtless, but not necessarily unpatriotic persons.

Not Many Enrollments.
The process of enrolling boys for the United States boys' working reserve is being continued in Fort Wayne with registration reports being satisfactory but enrolling is proving to be a disappointment. Out of 372 who registered in the four districts Wednesday night only 17 enrolled. Forty-one boys who work at night registered at the court house Wednesday afternoon from 2 to 5 p. m., of which number 10 enrolled, making the largest percentage of any of the districts.

Those in charge of the movement here are optimistic that more boys will enroll for the war work in the last three days of the week than before.

The results of Wednesday's registration and enrollment follow:
First district—South of the Pennsylvania tracks and east of Calhoun street, Hanna school, 104 registrations and fifteen enrollments.

Second district—South of the tracks and west of Calhoun, sixty-four registrations and one enrollment.

Third district—North of the tracks and west of Calhoun street, ninety-four registrations and no enrollments.

Fourth district—North of the tracks and east of Calhoun street, 104 registrations and one enrollment.

Directions to physicians who examined boys for the working reserve have been received by Mr. McComb and they are given briefly herewith, as they cannot be sent personally to all who will make the tests. These examinations are made without charge. The general directions follow:

"Examine skin for any evidence of xanthomata or syphilis. Examine scalp for pedicul.

"Examine heart for evidence of lesions that would unfit for service.

"Examine chest for evidence of tuberculosis. Should examination disclose lack of development of lung capacity, give instructions in regard to regular habits, proper diet, fresh air and hygienic living.

"Examine teeth. Advise in regard to proper care of teeth and dental work, if needed. If teeth are bad, refuse certificate of physical fitness until fixed.

"Judge from physical examination of applicant whether indoor or outdoor work is best and so advise.

"Uncleanliness is a physical as well as a sanitary sin. This should be emphasized in the examination.

"Table of physical proportions for height, weight and chest mobility for boys under twenty-one years of age, approved by medical department of United States army:

*At 16 years of age. 60 105 2
*At 17 years of age. 62 110 2
*At 18 years of age. 64 115 2

More Water Needed.

Fort Wayne is in need of some more water, according to plans it is possible that the well in Swinney park will be put to use and a pump similar to the one which was installed at Garrett, Monday, will be installed. This would supply the west end residents with good water. The plan would be to pump it directly into the mains.

Levy Must Be Raised.

City Comptroller Baade states that there is no way around raising the tax levy unless someone can devise a different plan. He stated that he told the various boards when the budgets were prepared to cut out everything that was not necessary.

BY CHARLES EDWARD RUSSELL

The Daily Sentinel today announces to its readers the return to active work of its staff writer, Charles Edward Russell, who went to Russia on the Root commission by appointment of President Wilson.

Mr. Russell is now writing for this newspaper the story, in a series of articles, of what he saw and heard in great Russia, and his impressions. He will tell the truth about the revolution, the government and the thousand and one things of interest in that huge land—the truth as revealed to him in his double capacity as an American official and a conscientious reporter.

They will peer behind the mystery of that sudden revolution, pierce the obscurity that shrouds recent history, and bring into the light of publicity the motives behind the peasant revolts against the new authority and the hidden strings that seek to wreck the new republic.

THEY WILL EXPLAIN KERENSKY, the "New Napoleon," not as he has been pictured, but AS HE IS; and they will detail the wonderful stories of Siberia's prison camps when they heard the word of freedom.

They will answer all the questions that anxious Americans are asking about Russia. They will be full of human interest and description of manners, customs and people.

Chiefs Come Back Home and Drop First Game to Muskies

Timely Hitting in Two Innings Off Cummins Proves Fatal to Warriors.

Even the sight of their own stamping ground after a long stay away from home failed to arouse the Chiefs to very great efforts yesterday, and they lost the first game of the series to the Muskies, score 7 to 3.

Two bad innings, the seventh and the ninth, in which the visitors got some timely hits off Doc Cummins, proved fatal to the warriors. In each of these innings the Muskies scored three times, after Kirby's home run had given them a one-run lead in the fifth. The Chiefs also had one bad inning, the eighth, when they scored three runs, but could not push over the marker necessary for a tie.

It was Aaron's two-base clout to left in the ninth with three men on, which took the heart out of the Chiefs, when they might have tied things up in the final inning. The three markers which the warriors got in the eighth came on singles by Kelly, Miller and Roberts, a wild throw to third out at first and Vandy's Texas leaguer back of short. Hoffman had a good chance to do some damage here but his best was a fly back of second.

In the ninth for the Muskies an error, a pass and a hit put three on and then Aaron chased them all across with his smash to left.

The Chiefs did not offer much opposition in the final inning, going down in one-two-three order.

RALPH MILLER WILL FINISH SEASON HERE

Chiefs Secure Services of Local Boy Who Has Been With Waterloo.

Ralph Miller, local all around athlete, who was playing with Waterloo in the Central association until the breakup of that league, has signed a Chief contract and will finish the season here. Miller's playing attracted the attention of several major league scouts this summer, and while he is still the property of the Waterloo team, according to a ruling of the national commission, which says that a suspended league may retain its players for the next season, the Fort Wayne club may be able to retain his services for next season.

Miller played his first game yesterday, performing in right field. He made several good catches in the outfield and delivered a slashing line over second which helped in the run-getting in the eighth inning.

A deal is now pending whereby Catcher Harry Smith may be sold to the Pittsburgh Pirates. The deal had not been completed last night owing to the fact that Dreyfus could not get in communication with Vandygriff. The big catcher witnessed yesterday's game from the stands. Gloeckson caught in his place and put up a creditable game, stopping several wild pitches with his bare hand, and grabbing a high foul off the grandstand.

The victory gave the home team four out of five on the series. Score: R.H.E. Milwaukee 1 0 0 1 1 0 1-7; Kansas City 0 0 0 0 3 0 0-3. Batteries—Reeb, Slapnicka and Murphy; Sanders and Berry.

COLLEGE SPORTS

Before leaving for his summer vacation in Wisconsin Head Coach Ewald O. (Jumbo) Stehm, of the Indiana university football squad, gave out the revised Hoosier schedule as follows:

Sept. 29—Franklin at Bloomington. Oct. 6—Wabash at Bloomington. Oct. 13—St. Louis at Bloomington. Oct. 20—Minnesota at Minneapolis. Oct. 27—Minn. Oct. 27—Ohio state at Indianapolis. Nov. 10—Open. Nov. 17—DePauw at Bloomington. Nov. 24—Purdue at Bloomington. With the reorganization of the Indiana athletic staff athletics will be continued in full force. The names of the staff officially announced are as follows: Head coach, Ewald O. Stehm; assistant coaches, Dana M. Evans, Arthur C. Richmond, 1 0 8 0 0 0 0-13. A new man is being sought to take charge of the varsity baseball aggregation next spring.

Announcement is made that the University of Michigan will play Northwestern university at football here Nov. 24. It will be Michigan's first season as a member of the "big ten" since 1905.

Northwestern and Michigan have not met on the gridiron since 1901. On that occasion Michigan had her hottest minute team on the field, but Northwestern succumbed by one of the lowest scores which Michigan registered against any of her opponents that season. The previous Northwestern game in 1898 was as close as a football game could be, ending in a 6 to 5 victory for Michigan.

"Pattie" Driscoll, the Chicago National's utility infielder, has been accepted in the draft and will go to Rockford the first week in September. Driscoll is the first member of the Cubs to be accepted for the new national army. When the former Northwestern university football star took the examination the doctor declared him physically fit and most desirable. Driscoll did not claim exemption.

BOBBY BYRNE MAY BE IN WORLD'S SERIES

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 15.—Bobby Byrne may take in another world's series this year. It is said that President Comiskey, of the Chicago White Sox, is anxious to get Byrne to fill Weaver's shoes at third base and help the White Sox win the pennant. Byrne was given his unconditional release by the St. Louis club and is free to sign up with Comiskey. If terms can be agreed upon, Byrne probably will be considered one of the luckiest ball players in the big leagues. Byrne was traded to the Pittsburgh club by Roger Bresnahan the year the Pirates won the pennant. Fred Clarke then sent him to the Phillies in 1915 and Pat Moran won the pennant and Byrne again shared in the world's series.

BARNEY OLDFIELD. LOUIS CHEVROLET. RALPH DEPALMA

(By Paul Purman). The war has caused a falling off in automobile racing this year and many drivers are at the front, but Barney Oldfield, Ralph DePalma and Louis Chevrolet will be on hand to smash a few records. In addition to the main event DePalma will go after records from one to ten miles, using a new airplane type motor.

World speedway records from one to twenty-five miles will fall at the Sheepshead Bay (N. Y.) speedway, said to be the fastest track in the world, Aug. 18, if three drivers entered in a three cornered race, can tune up their engines to do it.

There are some who would rank Weaver, Gardner, Baker and Zimmerman ahead of him, but if they are the margin is slight. This year Groh has been batting right around .300. He was the first National league player to make 100 hits and his base stealing average does not rank much behind that of the best pilferers in the league. As a fielder there are few who rank ahead of Groh at the hot corner. Heine may not be as spectacular as some other big league third basemen, but he gets the results which win ball games.

HEINE GROH ONE OF GREAT THIRD BASEMEN OF TODAY

A few weeks ago when Ty Cobb was trying to break his own record of hitting safely in forty consecutive games, the eyes of baseball were upon him. A few days ago a National league player, not generally credited with being a great hitter, performed a batting feat which for him was as great as Cobb's hitting in thirty-five consecutive games. The player was Heine Groh of the Reds, who batted safely in twenty-three consecutive games before being stopped in the last game of a double-header against Boston. The hitting was the more remarkable as most of it was accomplished during the Reds' slump which vapidated them from second into fourth place. All of which draws attention to the fact that the diminutive Cincinnati is one of the really great third basemen of the game.

BEZDEK TELLS HOW HE BECAME MANAGER

Pittsburg Boss is College Graduate and Accomplished Linguist.

Who is Hugo Bezdek? Is the title of an article in the September Baseball Magazine. The article goes on to say "Bezdek is a Bohemian, a graduate of the University of Chicago. He uses faultless English but he also speaks German fluently, has a good command of French, is equally proficient in Bohemian and converses readily in Russian. While at Chicago he specialized in chemistry, and has a good working knowledge of medicine. The article then quotes the new Pirate manager as follows:

My appointment to the management of a major league club has caused some comment and not a little criticism. The baseball public do not know me and cannot fail to wonder why it was that I was appointed to an important position with so many other better known possibilities than myself apparently eligible. It is not my purpose to justify my appointment. That task is for Mr. Dreyfus to do. But as I have been asked to state my managerial policies in so far as I have formed them, I shall endeavor to do so as briefly and distinctly as possible. I inherited from several generations of strong men a powerful physique and an unquenchable love for athletic sport. I have fitted myself to become a chemist, I have studied medicine. But I have no ambitions along those lines. Sport is my vocation and always will be. I love sport, feel the intense practical application of sport to the national welfare and readily justify to myself my connection with sport during the most critical time in this nation's life.

Sport is as much a vital necessity to any nation as education itself. In England football and to a certain degree cricket are the national games. Here baseball is supreme. I have been interested in sport ever since I was 8 years old. My interest centered primarily in football, which I played for four years and thoroughly enjoyed. But I have also been interested in boxing and wrestling and in baseball. Athletic sport to me is one of the fundamental things, the important things which we cannot do without. The nations which have no athletic sports, if there are any, are certain to be flabby of muscle and purposeless of mind. Nothing so encourages a healthy physique as sport, and health is the foundation of national welfare. In time of war especially is this the case. Strength is the foundation of the

LETTERS FROM COACHES SHOW COLLEGE SPIRIT

The spirit of athletics in our colleges is shown in these quotations from letters from Glenn S. Warner, coach of the champion University of Pittsburg team, and Charles W. Mayser, coach of the Iowa state college team.

GLENN S. WARNER. "We will lose a large proportion of our material, but if we lose every man on last year's team it would not deter our athletic authorities from going ahead with football and other athletics.

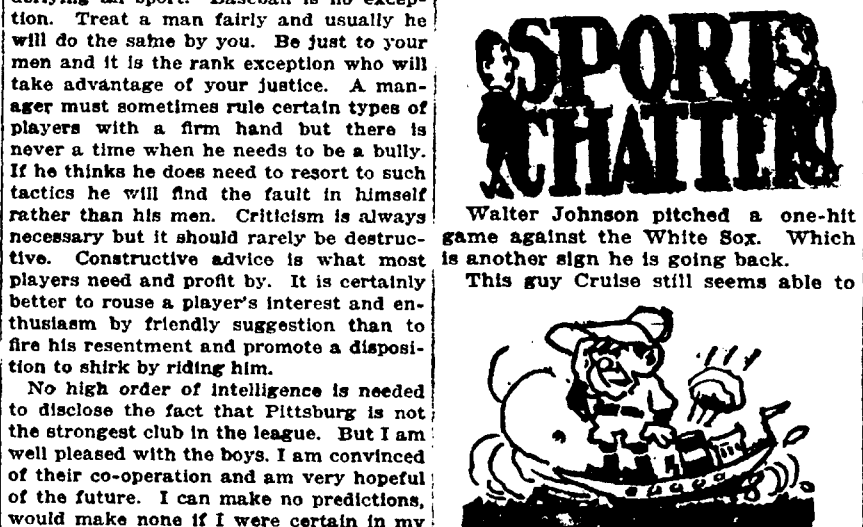

"There will be in the university students under military age and those who will be exempt and if athletics ever was a good thing, it seems to me now is the time they will be of more benefit than ever.

"I venture to say there is a larger proportion of athletes who have voluntarily entered military service than any other class of young men and it is obvious they will be much better fitted physically than any other class of men.

"I have no patience with these universities which have canceled their football schedules because their best players are gone. If football is a good thing it should be carried forward for those who are left in college and the question of whether or not a good team can be turned out should not enter into the consideration of the question."

CHARLES W. MAYSER.

"Why shouldn't football go on? What did the young fellows do in college before athletics took up their spare time. I am sure we prefer conditions as they prevail at present. Our teams may not measure up to those of former years and the Roman holiday, spectacular effect may be lacking, but the games will be just as hard fought as ever."

Walter Johnson pitched a one-hit game against the White Sox. Which is another sign he is going back. This guy Cruise still seems able to

BUSY LASS FAVORITE IN TODAY'S FEATURE

Three Events on Program for Second Day of Grand Circuit Meet.

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 16.—The feature race of today's North Randall grand circuit program will be the 2:11 trot, in which Busy Lassie, at present the leading money winning trotter of the grand circuit, will compete with Ima Jay, Early Dreams and three other crack horses for the Plain Dealer $3,000 purse.

Harvest Gale will likely be the choice in the three year old champion steeple chase, while the Toddler seems slightly favored in the 2:13 trot.

The 2:15 pace seems a sure win for Butte Hale.

INTERESTED BUT SILENT

To Shut Off Pacifists.

Action to put into effect plans of leaders to forestall any attempt at open discussion of peace in the senate appeared imminent when that body convened today. Present plans call for executive sessions to consider closing the doors for peace debate. Senators of the so-called pacifist group were expected to oppose the secret session program.

Steenbeke river was forced. The French and British are making further progress on the right bank of the river.

Marked success was won by the French on the Aisne front. A strongly held system of trenches on a front of one kilometer south of Ailles was stormed and four German counter-attacks were beaten off. The French also made progress in the vicinity of the Hurbise monument.

The Austrian war office announces that four tons of bombs were dropped on the maritime arsenal at Venice on Tuesday morning, causing a number of fires. Three of the Austrian airplanes are missing.

The weekly French report of shipping losses records the sinking of one steamship of more than 1,500 tons and three of smaller size. The Italians lost six ships and five sailing vessels.

A London newspaper says that wounded American soldiers from the western front have just arrived at a hospital at Bath, England. Washington is without official information regarding this report. Dispatches from the American training camp in France last night said all American forces in France were relieved yesterday, indicating that the entire body was still in training. The American military authorities have made elaborate preparations for treatment in American hospitals in France of the wounded, who ordinarily would not be transported to England. The report of the London newspaper may refer to soldiers of Americans serving with the British armies, of whom there are several thousand.

would have done credit to soldiers with years of training behind them.

New Organization Disclosed.

It was the first time an American army had passed in review under its new organization. Machine gun line of platoons moved forward with four platoons abreast, each platoon being formed in columns of fours. The space between the platoons being ample, the head and front of the marching column were fully two hundred feet wide.

Each of the four platoons in a company seem full-sized companies under the old order of things in the American army. At the head of each regiment was a band playing regimental marches, one of which, called "Happy Heinie," in Teutonic tones, much to the amusement of the French military officers.

Pack Mule Relocated.

An interesting incident of the review was the first appearance in line of new machine guns which are carried on small carts instead of pack mules, as formerly. Each cart is drawn by a mule and driven by a soldier. The latter has a short but extremely interesting time training American recruits. These little French mules being used to work in double, rather protested against single harness. The result has been that during the past week stray mules have been encountered here and there about camp with bits of crabs and harness hanging very negligently about their necks. Even today some of the mules are inclined to be a bit playful, one dashing out of line just as he was passing the general.

After a brief tour of the column in a wrong direction he decided to be good and the laughing driver soon had him in his proper place again. Some sent the carts by the reviewing party in a gallop, which rather recalled clown races at a circus.

The carts are so small and the drivers so large and all wielding long cracking whips. As the troops reached a point some distance beyond the reviewing party they reformed into columns of fours and thus stretched out they found their way along the roads. The brown mass seemed to pass as far as the eye could see.

Moving Pictures Made.

While the review was held at a point so remote that only persons attached to the army organization were permitted to see, moving pictures were made both by French and American official operators in order that the people throughout France and America can get an idea themselves of the impressive appearance the troops made when first assembled together. It was difficult to realize that they are the same men who landed in France a few weeks ago.

They were scattered in a dozen or more French villages and each regiment was assembled in a village where its headquarters had been. The new army regiments are modelled on the European standard, quite different from the old American regiments and when on the march yesterday in column of fours, the line seemed to stretch an interminable distance along the paved French roads lined with gaunt trees.

As the Americans passed through the villages enroute to the reviewing field, the French peasant folk gazed at them open-eyed in amazement and admiration.

They have seen much of the American soldiers individually and in companies since their arrival, but this was the first gathering in force of the new ally and the impression it made on the villagers, farmers and French soldiers on leave could easily be seen and appreciated.

Surprises the General.

The French, who have been training companies and battalions of the American army, were also surprised and it can be truthfully stated that there was a distinct pause of surprise and admiration on the part of Major General Sibert himself, when at the head of the staff he reached the crest of the reviewing platform and saw his khaki-clad command depart upon a wonderful far-flung line before him. In telling of his pride in his command Maj.-Gen. Sibert added: "I am particularly proud of the showing the men made today for they were not parading before admiring crowds either of home folks or foreign friends. It was merely a military maneuver for the men and they did splendidly."

"I was surprised at their facility at field maneuvers considering the fact that since they have been here their training consisted almost wholly of the technical side of trench warfare with all the new paraphernalia of offensive and defensive tactics."

Show Field Work.

During their spare time away from trench practice they have been drilled in close order tactics but today they had the opportunity to show what they could do in the field. The result was most gratifying and encouraging.

"The place and hour of the review was not disclosed until the day before."

"Was this to avoid a possible visit from a hostile airplane?" a young officer was asked.

Several officers commented on the fact that never before had the attempted nickname of "Sunny" seemed so unbecoming and inappropriate to the American troops as when stalwart, bronzed and splendid in every way they marched by in salute of Maj.-Gen. Sibert.

tion with the British on both sides of the road between Steenbeke and Dixmude, captured all their objectives and crossed the Steenbeke river, the war office announced today. Further progress is being made along the river.

The French made an attack on the Aisne and captured German trenches on a front of one kilometer. Four German counter attacks were repulsed.

GERMAN OFFICIAL REPORT.

Berlin, Aug. 16.—British troops yesterday unsuccessfully attempted to take the village of Vendin-le-Viel, two and a half miles east of Loos, on the Lens front, the German staff reported today. The British gains, it was added, were small.

The German statement says that in Flanders a second great battle has burst forth, the British infantry attacking the German positions on an eleven-mile front.

The German general staff reports that cathedral at St. Quentin was set on fire by French shells and that it has been ablaze since yesterday evening.

of one million acres. If the harvest weather were good, the condition of food supplies would be very satisfactory. The premier added there had been an increase in the sugar reserve.

Premier Lloyd-George announced in the house of commons that the reports of Field Marshal Haig had captured Langemark. The premier said that Field Marshal Haig had telegraphed that 1,200 prisoners had been taken and that five guns had been captured, by noon today.

In addition to capturing Langemark, the premier said, the British troops gained ground at many points. Several fighting is continuing with the result undetermined.

law. Should the operators remain out it is assumed that the governor would fulfill his threat of seizing the mines.

Favor Federal Control.

At the conference of state representatives a sentiment in favor of federal control of coal and the price thereof developed early, as opposed to the Illinois plan for state control. Governor Capner, of Kansas, and Will Hays, of the Indiana delegation, spoke for federal control.

Trade Commission to Act.

The federal trade commission expects to fix coal prices and that the president may appoint a man to enforce its mandates, was the information contained in a telegram from the federal trade commission to Governor Lowden. It was read to the delegates as follows:

"In order to avoid conflict in the coal situation we suggest a conference of your representatives as to coal prices with the federal trade commission and whomsoever, if anybody, the president may direct to put into effect the provisions of the Lever law. The federal trade commission will be charged with price determination and in the interest of public service we suggest that the phase be complicated as little as possible. The commission desires in every way to co-operate with you. By order of the commission,

Peace and Better Outlook for Crops Give Setback to Prices

Chicago, Aug. 16.—Bears had the advantage in the corn market today owing to the continued prominence given to peace news and because of reports showing a general favorable crop outlook. Opening quotations which ranged from unchanged figures to 1/4c lower, with December at $1.14 to $1.15, and May at $1.12 to $1.13, were followed by a material decline all around. Influenced by the same conditions as corn, wheat went below $2 for the first time since the recent series of down turns began. The close was heavy, 1 1/4c to 1 1/2c net lower at $1.13 to $1.13 1/2c December and $1.10 to $1.11 1/2c May. The close was steady at $2.00 September, the same as 24 hours before. After opening unchanged at $2, September, the market touched $1.99, and sagged with other grain. New top record quotations on hogs made provisions strong.

POPULAR WAR SHARES UNDER MUCH PRESSURE

Leading Issues Lose Large Fractions in the Wall Street Trading.

New York, Aug. 16.—The more popular war shares and equipments were again under a pressure at the beginning of today's trading, losing large fractions to a point. United States Steel also reflected slight reactionary tendencies with the motors, but Great Northern Ore, Shipings, Coppers, Oils and Sugars were irregularly higher. Ralls showed no material changes. Unsettled became general during the morning, the weakness of New Haven, which fell to the new low price of 32 1/2, having an adverse effect in all other quarters, especially rails. New York Central fell 1 1/2, U. S. Steel dropped 1 1/4 to 123 1/4, and numerous other industrials and equipments receded one to two points. Liberty bonds sold at 99.90 to 99.95.

WILL CONFER ON EXTRA SESSION OF LEGISLATURE

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 16.—The proposed special session of the Indiana state legislature will be the subject of a conference late tomorrow, called by Governor Goodrich in his office. Representatives McGonagle, Republican Floor Leader Wright, Miller, Behmer, Dilworth, Gorski, Haslinger, Houghton and Cravens, the democratic floor leader. The list includes chairmen of the various committees which will have to consider measures to be introduced at the special session. No date has been announced for the special session.

MUCH IMPROVED, THANK YOU.

Philadelphia, Aug. 16.—After serving two months of a one year's sentence for failing to register under the selective draft act, Frederick J. Becker, of this city, is now willing to enroll. Becker in a letter made public today said he had given registration "careful consideration" and was now willing to register "with the greatest of pleasure."

SPEECH GIVES MANY THRILLS

People Must Save Now to Prevent Pinch Times.

CROWDS ON HAND FOR FESTIVITIES

Senator Watson Gives Light on Why America is in War.

Declaring the government had done all any government can do in the way of preventing hoarding of food products, high prices and speculation, it was now up to the people upon whom the responsibility for producing and saving rested, Senator James E. Watson, principal speaker at Fort Wayne's first potato patch patriotic demonstration at Foster park Wednesday night, urged the people to save a greater part of what is wasted as a means of forestalling pinch times during the coming winter.

"The government can't do the thing," declared Senator Watson. "After all it depends upon the individual. Congress and the government are doing everything they can. It behooves us to go to the extreme limit, save all money you can, save everything while the boys are over in the European battlefields."

"Laws have been passed that I never would have voted for except in a time of war. Coal prices will now be fixed by the federal trade commission and if the mine owners don't like this they have the choice of allowing the government to take over their entire output or taking over the mines and operating them, allowing a fair price to the owners of the mine for their coal."

In this connection showing what the government had done to relieve the people, Senator Watson explained the power of the priority board. This board, he said, had power to put through freight where needed. For instance, to send food where it is needed quickly, coal where there is a shortage and expedite movements of troops. In addition to the government measures against hoarding and speculation, it is now made possible for the allies and the United States to have one purchasing agent in this country, and to do away with competitive bidding, which will mean an enormous saving, said Senator Watson. The steps to prevent hoarding and speculation, plus the priority board, were the things the government had done to prevent hard times during the coming winter. Senator Watson lauded the work of the potato patch patriots and other similar movements, but said that the pitiful part about it was that a great part of the produce grown would never be used. He said that every year the same situation had been confronted. Apples, potatoes and other produce would lay on the ground and rot because there was no way of taking care of them until the time when they would be needed during the winter and early spring. The grocers and the people themselves were unable to take these products off the hands of the producers at the time and the producers have been unable to keep them until the time when they would be needed, declared the senator.

55,000 MEN IN FRANCE. Senator Watson shed some light on the question of the number of troops now in France when he declared that 55,000 American soldiers were now at the western front.

"There is a rumor," said the senator, "that this is not a popular war. One reason for this is apparent, it being that the line of action is 3,000 miles away. No army menaces this country, no navy threatens it. Nothing of this war has yet touched our shores. Fifty-five thousand men in France have gone away so silently no one knew. Many more hundred thousand will go before long. "I care nothing about this war from a European point of view," said Senator Watson, "but I care everything for the American viewpoint. I care not who runs the railroad from Berlin to Baghdad, I care not who gets Alsace-Lorraine, I care not what kind of a government Germany has. As Lord Balfour said, 'We have no more right to impose a government on them than they on us.' We are in this war as a matter of self defense. Germany has murdered our citizens, Germany has sunk our ships, Germany has insulted our flag and that alone is sufficient cause for war."

Today's Beauty Talk

You can enjoy a delightful shampoo with very little effort and for a very trifling cost, if you get from your druggist a package of canthox and dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water. This makes a full cup of shampoo liquid, enough so it is easy to apply it to all the hair instead of just the top of the head. Your shampoo is now ready. Just pour a little at a time on the scalp and hair until both are entirely covered by the daintily perfumed preparation that thoroughly dissolves and removes every bit of dandruff, excess oil and dirt. After rinsing, the hair dries quickly, with a fluffiness that makes it seem heavier than it is, and takes on a rich luster and a softness that makes arranging it a pleasure.—Advertisement.

"They laid down a barred zone and said your ships shall not come in this area of 1,400 miles or we'll sink them. No matter if these ships were hospital ships or what they were. Ships of mercy, love and charity. 'No matter what they are,' said the Kaiser, 'come in this 1,400 mile zone and you all look alike to me.' Then all countries, in the language of the street, had to say to William, 'You look alike to all of us.'"

Senator Watson in outlining what the United States is fighting for said that this country was not fighting to get rid of kings because this country is fighting with kings, and that the people of this country are helping France because they are helping themselves. "The American name," declared Senator Watson, "will be vindicated when the war is over." Senator Watson then told of some of the history of European intrigue involving questions hundreds of years old. The first battle for Alsace-Lorraine was fought over 1,000 years ago, he said.

In speaking of the submarine menace, Senator Watson pointed out that the U-boats are sinking tonnage at the rate of twelve millions a year, while all that the allied nations can build amount to about four and a half million tons per year. With all the ships that all the allied nations can build they can just about keep even with the sinkings, was Senator Watson's point. Senator Watson thrilled the vast throng which assembled to hear him with the patriotic fervor of his closing words.

He declared: "We've got to fight, we've got to win, we've got to bring Germany to her knees. America, the supreme ideal of the world, will go down as the most glorious page of the history of civilization, and America is birth living for and worth dying for. We are perfect in the cross. I have always felt that national sins were followed by national calamities."

"I believe that the American flag will reach heights never before attained, the flag of liberty."

Groves and Cook Speak. Avery M. Groves, of the Journal-Gazette, and E. W. Cook were also on the program preceding Senator Watson. Mr. Groves made a stirring appeal to the patriotism of his hearers. E. W. Cook talked mostly on potatoes befitting the occasion.

The afternoon of the patriotic potato celebration was taken up with contests of various sorts, the success of which was due to the efforts of W. J. Vesey, chairman of the entertainment committee. The results of the contests follow:

Baby Show. First prize, Delrick Knight; second prize, Irvin Charles Wedder; third prize, Richard Ralph Erick; fourth prize, Everett Koenig; fifth prize, Robert Jacobs. The judges for the baby contest were Mrs. E. M. Van Buskirk, Mrs. Otto Peters and Mrs. J. F. O'Connor.

MORE TO BE EXAMINED IN WHITLEY COUNTY

Notices Are Sent Out to 270 Additional Draft Eligibles.

(Special To The Sentinel.) Columbia City, Ind., Aug. 16.—The Whitley county exemption board Wednesday mailed notices to 270 more draft eligibles of Whitley county, making in all 506 young men who will have been summoned. The second call is not for the national army second increment, but rather to lend assurance that the county's 118 quota for the first army will be filled. In case a surplus of available drafted men is obtained in the above manner they will be placed on a waiting list for the second draft, or to supply vacancies in present armies. Eighty-three young men, rejected here for army service last week, were examined again in the Commercial club rooms, and the following fifteen were accepted under the new physical rulings, which lets down the bars on weight and chest measurements: Earl Bordner, Roscoe M. Barnes, Galen E. Reiff, Glenn W. Darr, Ceral A. Coulter, Clifton Newcomer, Herman Hedges, Kessler B. Beers, Henry N. Dimmick, Kellar L. Sheeler, William Setter, Maurice Cunningham, William H. Oberkiser, William B. Nichols and Firmer Born. The local exemption board, which has already certified the names of 42 young men to the district exemption board at Fort Wayne, will certify others Friday or Saturday.

CANNOT STARVE BRITAIN SAYS PREMIER

LLOYD GEORGE HAS GOOD WORD TO SAY TO THE COMMONS

British Store of Wheat Has Greatly Increased in Year and Germany's U-Boats Hardly Holding Own.

ANNOUNCES GAINS ON BELGIAN FRONT

London, Aug. 16.—Premier Lloyd-George speaking in the house of commons this afternoon said that this time last year the wheat in this country amounted to 6,480,000 quarters and that now it is 8,500,000 quarters. The stock of oats and barley, he declared, also was higher.

"The government has come to the conclusion," Premier Lloyd-George said, "that with reasonable economy there is no chance of starving England out.

"The admiralty plans for dealing with submarines have been increasingly successful."

The British premier said that in the single month of April 500,000 gross tons of shipping were lost through Teuton submarines. In July the tonnage lost went down to 320,000 gross tons. This month there was a substantial improvement over that of July.

The net losses since the commencement of Germany's unrestricted submarine warfare was under 250,000 tons a month.

The premier said: "Germany now is barely able to hold her own—not even that."

Premier Lloyd-George said that in the first six months of this year the new tonnage built was 484,000 while in the last six months including purchases the new tonnage would be 1,424,000. The premier also said that a considerable addition had been made in the program of naval construction.

There has been considerable saving in bread consumption, the premier said, and owing to closer milling and food economy there had been an addition to the wheat stock of 70,000 quarters per week. (A quarter is equivalent to 480 pounds.)

Mr. Lloyd George said the acreage under cultivation showed an increase

Review of Army in France Discloses Something to Be Proud Of.

GEN. SIBERT FEELS THAT WAY ABOUT IT

First Fighting Force on Other Side Amazes the French Folks.

American Field Headquarters in France, Aug. 16.—The review yesterday by Major General William L. Sibert, of all the troops of his command in training for the trenches afforded a military spectacle of international significance and historic importance.

It was the first time that the troops of this particular unit of the American army in France had been assembled in its entirety and the display they made was deeply impressive.

There have been other review of American troops in foreign lands—in the Philippines, Cuba, for away Guam and Panama—but there seemed to be an entirely new meaning to the study tramp of the men of America in France. One saw in them the symbol of their country's new adventure.

General Very Proud.

"They made me feel very proud," declared Maj. Gen. Sibert last night, echoing the sentiment of a small but enthusiastic little handful of Americans who were permitted to see the martial display. The setting for the review was one of rare beauty. It was held upon a broad and somewhat rocky plain in the fields of France, rippling away in every direction, all green and brown with glowing crops and ripening grains.

Here and there picturesque little French villages, white walled and red roofed, snuggled amid the trees of matchless valleys. Occasionally these valleys were bathed in sunshine and again they were hidden in the gray of rain. The scene was one of changing brilliance and shadow, the deep blue of the harvest sky and August sun being covered by storm clouds, being driven along by a stiffening gale.

At one time during the review a rain-storm broke over the marching troops but it was only of brief duration and there was not a falter in any part of the line.

Booms Furnish Thunder.

There is an officers' training school near where the review was held, and loud explosions gave an air of war reality to the picture. Very early in the morning the troops were on the move.

Attached to his staff were half a dozen French officers, including the general of a famous division, all of whom were enthusiastic in their praise of the spectacle. Maj. Gen. Sibert and staff slowly rode up and down before the various regiments drawn up at attention. The ground was staked out with American flags and when Gen. Sibert had taken up his position the immobile army began to move. The maneuvers by which it broke from regimental fronts into lines of platoon arranged by companies and battalions,

GOVERNMENT TO FIX PRICES

Federal Authority Will Be Applied to the Coal Situation.

TRADE BOARD IS SOON TO CONTROL

Conference of Councils of Defense Gets Word Out of Washington.

Chicago, Aug. 16.—Outlining the coal situation to delegates from thirteen coal producing states who met here today on invitation of the Illinois state council of defense, Samuel Insull, chairman of the council, who acted also as chairman of the conference, declared the federal plan of fuel control leaves much that must be done by the states.

The roll showed no one present as representing the states of West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Tennessee. The delegates who numbered fifty-seven were mostly members of the council of defense of their respective states.

Lowden Plan Doubtful.

Meanwhile the plan of Governor Lowden to control the situation in Illinois seemed dangerously close to disaster. Under threat to seize the mines the governor obtained agreements from railroad heads, mine operators and miners to abide by prices to be set by Chief Justice Carter of the state supreme court. The operators, however, have failed to appoint a committee to act with Justice Carter, as was planned.

They met last night and again this forenoon, but named no committee. Several of them, accompanied by labor leaders, left for Washington last night and sentiment seemed to be that federal rather than state control would be best from their point of view.

It was reported that they had telegraphed Governor Lowden that for the state to fix prices would violate the Lever

SELECTED TO GO TO FRANCE

Alfred M. Foellinger and Franz J. Schulte Will Leave for Front.

TO BE TRAINED IN MODERN WARFARE

Will Then Return to Help Drill New American Army.

Two Fort Wayne young men, Alfred M. Foellinger and Franz J. Schulte, have been selected to go to France as members of the company of new officers who are to be sent there as students, to be given training in the new methods of modern warfare.

Both of the young men were at the officers' training camp at Fort Benjamin Harrison. Foellinger was given a commission as first lieutenant and Schulte as second lieutenant. The young men are to sail from some Atlantic port the latter part of the month.

It is the plan of the government to send a number of young men as students to the front in France. After a time these officers are to return to this country, and will help get the American troops in shape for the kind of warfare now being employed.

The young officers are directed by their orders to report themselves ready at an eastern port not later than Aug. 20 to sail. It is a distinction to be chosen for this service.

UNCLE SAM MAY TAKE HAND IN A COAL STRIKE

DON'T TRY IT WARNS MAJOR

Admonishes Young Men Who Try to Enlist After They Are Called by Board.

RECRUITING WORK REMAINS STEADY

Newly Ordained Officers Intermingling in Crowds on the Street.

Words of warning are issued by Maj. Thomas F. Ryan, of the regular army recruiting station, to young men of this vicinity who endeavor to enlist after they have received the call from their local conscription boards.

The result of the try will be trouble, states the major, as a young man who has received the call must perjure himself in order to get into any branch of the service as a volunteer. Anyone who secures a fraudulent enlistment because he perjures himself will receive a heavy punishment including a lengthy sentence in a federal prison.

On the other hand, however, the major invites all other young men to come to the office and enlist now before the next call for drafted men will be issued. There are still many attractive branches of the service open.

Recruiting work remains steady at the regular army recruiting station. Fifteen men were sent to Fort Thomas, Ky., from the local station Wednesday evening.

COMING HOME.

Eben Lane, Another Fort Wayne Boy, Gets Commission in California.

A telegram was received Thursday morning by C. R. Lane from his son, Eben, saying that the latter will arrive home next Saturday afternoon from the officers' training camp at the Presidio, San Francisco, where he won the commission of a second lieutenant in the quartermaster's department. He was given a furlough of twelve days and must report for further special schooling in the duties of his branch of the service at American Lake, thirteen miles out of Tacoma. This is his first visit home for three years.

Drill on Streets.

Company B drilled on the streets on West Wayne, Thursday morning, because the Central league park was unavailable due to the fact that the Fort Wayne ball team is at home the remainder of the week. However the plans of the officers were carried out in full.

The house of deputies was expected to decide today whether they would adjourn until the regular session, September 1.

FRESH DRIVE IS HURLED AGAINST TEUTONIC LINES

Haig and Petain Begin at Daybreak to Follow Up Wednesday's Success on France and Belgian Front.

GAINS AROUND LENS ARE BEING HELD

British Front in France and Belgium, Aug. 16.—(By the Associated Press)—Forces of the entente allies at daybreak today began another drive against the troops of Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria, along a wide front from a point opposite Polygon wood, east of Ypres, to the left of the French positions on the northward.

In the first onslaught the right flank of the French surged across the Steenbeke river and at the same time the left wing pushed forward correspondingly.

These meager facts represent the total news at this hour from the zone of the new offensive with the exception that the French already have counted a hundred prisoners.

ALLIES MAKING PROGRESS.

London, Aug. 16.—Troops of the entente allies in Flanders attacked the German positions today on a wide front east and north of Ypres in Belgium. The official report of Field Marshal Haig says that progress is being made.

On the Lens front where the Canadians yesterday captured hill 70 and made further progress in the environs of the French mining center, all German counter attacks, the official statement add, were repulsed.

Summary of the Day's War News

In three sectors of the Franco-Belgian front the French and British have won new successes in their offensive operations, which are on the whole in full swing. Attacks were made by the British in Belgium near Ypres, by the French on the Alsace front and near Dixmude, in Belgium. The ground won by the British in yesterday's brilliant attack near Lens, including the highly important hill 70, was held in the face of all German counter-attacks, General Haig reports.

While the British were consolidating their new territory near Lens and defending it against German efforts to retrieve their losses they struck another blow about thirty miles further north on a wide front east and north of Ypres. The official report from London gives few details of the battle, but says progress is being made.

The French, with the assistance of British troops on their right, attacked the German positions on both sides of the roads between Steenstraet and Dixmude, eight miles apart.

Paris reports that all objectives were gained and that a crossing of the

The editorials are enthusiastic over "one of the most stirring spectacles of the war" and refer to the deep significance of the appearance of the vanguard of America's immense army devoted to a heroic purpose.

J. H. P. HUGHART DIES FROM INJURIES

President of the G. R. & I.
Stricken While at Home of His Brother.

J. H. P. Hughart, president of the Grand Rapids and Indiana railroad, died at a hospital in Grand Rapids Thursday morning. The first Associated Press dispatch received by the Sentinel Thursday morning stated that Mr. Hughart was in a serious condition as the result of a stroke of paralysis suffered late Wednesday. He was stricken at the home of his brother, the dispatch said. Later came a dispatch stating that death was due to injuries sustained by a fall.

Mr. Hughart was with the G. R. & I. road many years, succeeding his father, W. O. Hughart, as president. Prior to taking that office he was general manager several years and the duties of that office took him over the line frequently, bringing him in personal touch with all the division and other officials, many who are employed in other capacities and with the business men, manufacturers and people generally at all points along the line. And his congenial and hearty manners made him friends everywhere. News of his death will be a shock to all. This is the second blow of the kind to fall upon G. R. & I. officials within the past three months, the first being the fatal accident to Supt. J. W. Hunter, a former resident of Fort Wayne.

CASH OUT IN HEAD.

Machinist C. L. McElfatrick Victim of Accident.

C. L. McElfatrick, in term of service one of the old machinists at the Pennsylvania shops, sustained an injury to his head yesterday afternoon, which is most painful and which will keep him from work for some days. He had a valve rod in his machine, dressing it down to the required size, and when he was in a stooping position, getting something out of his tool chest, the rod came loose and dropped down, striking him and cutting a long gash back of the ear in the head. The blow knocked Mr. McElfatrick down. His shop companions rushed to his assistance and assisted him to the office, where first aid was given, and he was able to walk around. The doctor had to take several stitches in closing the wound.

FEARFUL INCREASE IN DISEASE.
Better Balanced Natural Foods One of the Chief Remedies Proposed.
It may not be generally known that the people of the United States consume 74,000,000 pounds of drugs per annum; that there are 8,500 hospitals for caring for the sick and infirm; that there are being built about 700 new hospitals per year at a cost of some $250,000,000; that about 8,000,000 people spend an average of three weeks each year in these hospitals.
Summed up it means that something is radically wrong with us.
The remarkable discoveries of scientific investigations during the past few years shed a great light on the cause of disease, and therefore wholly unsuspected.
It has been found that unless the body has certain elements in its food disaster is certain to follow. Not the quantity of food taken, or even its extreme purity, is so important as the essential elements it must contain.
Nature in her profound wisdom has compounded in food substances chemical and mineral elements so skillfully that man has never been able to successfully duplicate her compositions.
Some of these food substances have been refined and re-refined until they are utterly foodless and yield nothing but trouble and disease to the user.
There is no reason why men and women should be sick, if they get a sound body to start with and can get proper nourishment daily. But there's the rub. Proper nourishment is almost as hard to get out of the average kitchen and pantry, and especially is this so in the cities, as water in the desert.
This is due largely to lack of information, or misinformation.
It may not be generally understood that there are but two food substances known to man which contain all the elements of nutrition. These foods are whole milk and whole wheat. Authorities regard these as supplying a perfect ration when used in combination.
But where are we to get whole wheat? We no longer get it in our bread, as that is entirely demineralized, devitalized and denuded of its brain, in which all the mineral elements are hidden.
A new food product prepared from wheat is being marketed under the name of WHOLE GRAIN WHEAT. This product is the whole wheat berry in its whole state, just as nature fashioned and ripened it in the harvest field. This is the first time whole wheat in its whole state, prepared ready to eat in a palatable form from which nothing has been taken away and to which nothing has been added but a little sugar and salt to increase its palatability, has been offered to the public.
This WHOLE GRAIN WHEAT is prepared ready to eat and is put up in sanitary tins hermetically sealed so that it may be kept indefinitely. It brings back to the user the real staff of life.

that has been refined out of our bread, and physicians are strong in their recommendations of this food as a body builder and a disease preventer.
The process under which it is prepared is declared to be one of the greatest developments of the time, and is the result of exhaustive research by a chemist and physician who found it necessary to provide himself a better balanced ration. Without thought of commercializing his discovery, he reported the peculiar and beneficial physiological effects it has, and it so appealed to those who learned about it that he was urged to make it possible for the public in general to obtain it.
This he has done and in the short period in which it has been on the market it has made a name and place, not equalled by any other cereal food. It is spreading throughout the nation at a remarkable rate and bids fair to become a universal food, used wherever good health and efficient existence is prized.
It has a decided therapeutic value, corrects the constipated habit, furnishes every one of the chemical and mineral elements of which the body is composed, and tends to make strong teeth, because it requires chewing and, at the same time supplies the required lime necessary for tooth and bone structure.

CLEANING RUSTY KNIVES.
There are many ways of cleaning knives, but few of them remove every stain from the blades. If you sprinkle a little bicarbonate of soda on a cork and rub briskly over the steel all the stains will disappear. Another successful plan is to rub the stain with a slice of freshly cut potato, and then polish in the usual way.

Hartford City, Ind., Aug. 16.—A real red-blooded American was before the conscription board here yesterday for examination. He is Harry Horton, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Horton. Horton is married and about thirty years old.

When he stepped before Dr. W. A. Hollis, one of the examiners, he said: "Say, if you find anything wrong with my eyes or my teeth I want you to tell me, will you?"

"Why?" asked the doctor.

"Because I want to go and get them fixed," Horton replied.

The answer was so unusual that it took the physician by surprise.

"Then you're not fooling?" he asked.

"No," said Horton.

"And you don't intend to claim exemption?" inquired the doctor.

"No," the registrant replied. "If I am physically fit I am willing to go, because I feel that it is a duty I owe to my country."

Horton's attitude was refreshing to the physician compared with the attempt of some young men to escape service by pretending physical disability.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 16, 1917.

THE POETIC ELEMENT.

The first raw conclusions of the world at large are, of course, that in the tribulation that has overtaken the Romanoffs the poetic element of justice enters. Perhaps that is true. Along with him in his exile to Siberia Nicholas Romanoff, late czar of all the Russians, will carry the reflection, poignant with many agonies, that he is traveling the fated road of uncounted thousands of Russians who have preceded him to that dreary land by the hard and autoeratic dictum of himself and the crowned heads of his forebears.

Something more practical than poetic retribution appears, however, to enter into the conclusions that have dictated the severities with which the provisional government of Russia is treating the former czar and his family. There is more than an unreasoning suspicion that the fallen dynasty is ready to "come back" if such a political coup can be managed. It would be strange, indeed, if this were not true. The history of dethroned monarchs and fallen dynasties is that in the breasts of the mighty no less than in the bosoms of the lowly hope springs eternal. The Orleans and the Bonapartes still dream their gilded dreams of a French throne restored, though it is well on to a century since the last king swayed France and near a half century since the Napoleonic dynasty went down at Sedan. But so it has gone the ages through, and so it is likely to go with the Romanoffs in Russia.

Since his abdication Nicholas II. and his family have been very comfortably quartered in enforced residence at the imperial palace in Tsarskoe-Selo, near Petrograd. Irksome, no doubt, it has been with many monotonies, but relieved by the association of familiar things and whatever can be conceived as humanly domestic in an imperial palace. So the imprisoned royal family has not fared badly at all. Perhaps it is lucky to be still living. The world has not yet recovered from its amazement that the revolution in Russia dealt so moderately with the deposed family and its connections. Dethroned monarchs are not as a common thing entirely safe appendages of a liberated state. Any designs of the monarchial party in Russia would be crystallized about the czar, the young heir or some other member of the family and presence would lend inspiration no less than pretext and opportunity. Recently it has been detailed in dispatches from Russia that the loss of morale and the partial disintegration of the Slav armies were in large part due to the insidious work of thousands of former police and spies of the czar that had been hurried into the ranks to preach discontent and lay the way for a counter revolution, which consummation it takes no imagination or cunning of thought to understand as a thing dear to Berlin and the object of its extensive secret diplomacy and subtle espionage in Russia since the revolution.

The provisional government is taking time by the forelock in exiling Nicholas and his family and putting them where they can be better guarded and may be less readily reached by conspirators against the new state. There might, too, come a time when the spectacle of the czar and the czarina and the czarovitch and the grand duchesses of the lately reigning family in their prison so near the capital would excite compassion. A more acute peril might be that in case of a coup in Petrograd the dethroned Nicholas in Tsarskoe-Selo would not have to be toted far to be made the re-enthroned Nicholas in the winter palace. Siberia is not so drear and desolate as it has been painted. Nicholas and his family are not going to the storied terrors of the quicksilver mines. Tobolsk, where they are to have residence, is a considerable city, which probably has a good market, movies and something that can answer to the late autoeratic for a ballet. Nicholas and Alix might have fared much worse. The upsetting of the throne and the imprisonment of the czar and czarina provoked a voluminous citation of the fates of the sixteenth Louis of France and the haughty Marie Antionette.

CANNOT BE IGNORED.

The peace proposals put forth by the vatican cannot be ignored, nor is there likely to be any want of serious attention to them on the part of the allies. To begin with, any peace proposal merits an examination and weighing, and surely one issuing from the vatican will be treated with not only all the respect it can claim, but with the most sincere hope that it may be found answerable to the difficulties of the international situation.

The promptitude with which allied governments have ascribed inspiration of Pope Benedict's humane essay to get a hearing from the belligerents for a proposal for seeking possible bases of peace to the Austrian government implies no imputation of an ex-parte interest of the pope in the concerns of the dual empire. Austria is well-known to be anxious for peace; to quit the war where it is and go back to the status quo ante and probably to join in any measures the world can agree upon for perpetuation of peace and the security of all nations, great and small. Austria has had a bellyful of war. It has brought her nothing but woe and it has cost her some of her imperial dignity and no small measure of her national independence. She is dominated today both in war and in government by Germany and could not pull out of the strife if she would. Very probably Austria has sought papal intercessions for peace on any basis that will save her integrity and lift the German incubus from her. The status quo ante, territorial restorations and a world league for peace would accomplish for Austria the most that she now desires and more than she can hope for either in the event of a German victory or an allied peace. The suspicion that the original impulse of the pope's proposals came from Germany is not tenable, though the sequel may disclose the fact. Germany is less ready to quit than Austria, though there can be no reasonable questioning of the thing that lies heaviest upon the heart of the German people in the mass. Prussianism, the dynasty and the war caste generally still have faith in themselves—not altogether without reason. Germany is concealing a most interesting and spectacular collapse if she is today anywhere near whipped. Her lines hold firm on all fronts, her armies are making something of a conclusion of the Russian debacle and her U-boats are today no less the great menace of democracy than they were half a year ago.

But the pope's peace proposals, no matter whence coming or how inspired, must have and will obtain a fair hearing, though upon their face they suggest much less than can form the basis of an enduring peace, much less than can vouchsafe justice to Belgium, Serbia and Poland. Yet, any peace proposals of the breadth given those in Benedict's letter to the belligerents, afford some ground for trial at getting together. These furnish, at least, an opportunity for a restatement on all hands of war aims and that gives each belligerent group an opportunity to disclose just how possible an early peace may be. The pope's proposals will not be ignored.

AS MAKING A SUGGESTION.

Fort Wayne's big show for the proper glorification of the potato patch patriots was a more interesting event and a much greater success than a good many thought it would be. It brought out a large exhibit of potatoes and a better exhibit of a spirit that it is reassuring to see disclosing itself. And in this potato patch fete we see the possibilities of a greater and more comprehensive event that may as well be scheduled as a kind of harvest home festival in the broad national spirit and for which it is not too early to begin preparations at once. Those who were the promoters and organizers of the event just successfully completed can very handsly continue themselves in office and go ahead with the preliminaries for the more pretentious festival six or eight weeks hence. The whole of Allen county can be included in the scope of the affair and if any other sections of the north-eastern part of the state want to come in to fuse their spirit of patriotism with our own and match potatoes and pumpkins and squashes and corn and whatever else will look good and toothsome and thrifty and as of help in the war, let them be invited to come along with us. Is it a bad notion? Muse over it, fellows, and you who made the potato patch patriots' fete day a success see what you can make of this.

The aspersion of Senator LaFollette as a non-patriotic or a disloyal American does the Wisconsin statesman some injustice probably. His job for some thirty years has been to oppose the majority, to keep himself in the limelight by fighting against what is—good or bad, it is all one to him—and making himself the center of turmoil and the figure in the spotlight. Aggressive patriotism is common today in congress and out of it. LaFollette could not exploit himself much as a patriot, hence—the other side of it for him.

Motives.

Sometimes I sit here and wonder.
When the day's stern tasks are through,
Here and there a costly blunder,
And there rank failure, too.
What the mother, who broods o'er me,
In that place for saints apart,
Would say, were she here before me,
Of the motive in my heart.

Would she understand I'm doing,
Day by day the best I can,
Though I please but few, pursuing
Savage toils that make the man?
Would she smile in ways that never
Failed to heal me of the smart
In those days she asked me ever
Of the motive in my heart?

Would she see that I am trying
To pain truth all clear and fair,
In this world where Love seems dying,
And Hate blossoms everywhere?
Through the hurting and the hating,
Where black shadows rise and start,
Would she know, my mother waiting,
Of the motive in my heart?

Yes, I know my gracious mother
Would believe that all I do
Is but done dark wrongs to smother,
While I lift the pure and true.
She would find there is no malice,
She would know I evils thwart,
And she'd see Love make a challenge
Of the motive in my heart.

RACE GROWING SMALLER RECRUITING SHOWS AND BANTAMS GET A CHANCE

BY L. HARPER LEECH.

The army of 1917 will be an army of bantams compared to the boys of '61.

The minimum height for the army used to be 64 inches. Now it's 61.

The army will be thinner, too.

Provost Marshal Gen. Crowder has given exemption boards a ruling from Surgeon Gen. Gorgas reducing the required weights for men of 64 to 76 inches in height from 5 to 10 pounds, according to height.

Chest measurements for men over 68 inches are reduced one-half an inch.

The height reduction made before the selective service law was put into operation on recommendation of the National Council of Research.

The council found the old standard—64 inches—had been adopted when the country was populated principally by the tallest races, North Europeans, negroes and Indians.

If retained, at least one-fourth of the southern Slavs, south Italians, Russians and Austrian Jews, French and Swiss would have escaped military service.

The 61-inch minimum contrasts poorly with the average heights of civil war soldiers. The average of 250,000 recruits for the native Americans was over 67 inches.

Swedes and Scots led the foreigners of '61; the Irish led both the English and the Germans who trailed last with an average of 66 2-3 inches.

All were big boned men of the tall-est races ever bred. It was an age of farmers, outdoor work and cheap food.

Since that time have come the hordes of smaller men from the Mediterranean countries, descended from generations of town dwellers.

The civil war itself helped cut down the height of the native stocks, as the biggest men perished and left the smaller ones to be fathers.

As the bulk of the federal armies were under 21 years of age—few of the men killed had any representative in the next generation.

The physical results of the sweat shop and factories can be read today in the small men of the British armies recruited from the Frenchmen, in spite of the fact that France today tells the story of the Napoleonic carnage in the shrunken stature of her men.

Reports from various sections of the country show that there are whole sections of the population which have deteriorated in other ways.

The southern negro, once the huskiest of humans, still furnishes Jack Johnsons from the country and smaller towns, but in the cities a terrifying percent are hopelessly diseased. In some of the city districts a large percent of the men are useless for soldiers.

Senator Pomerene's bill to take the rejects into training camps and "re-pair" them by good food, exercise, fresh air and minor surgery, points the way which should have been taken in time of peace if the country's manhood had received half the attention which has been given the hogs.

The new ruling of Surgeon General Gorgas sending men with defective teeth to a dentist at government expense if necessary—is another revolutionary thing war has brought.

Both ideas probably will outlast the war, and some day the government will have inspectors and surgeons to keep up the human live stock, which makes up the United States.

Most of the physical defects in America can be made into real men if given enough to eat and plenty of fresh air.

Simple medical attention often produces a miracle.

About five doses of hook worm purgative has changed many a southern farm boy from a scrawny little runt into a six-foot giant in less than 12 months.

A gain of five inches in height in a year and a pound a week has often followed this simple treatment.

BIRDMEN BORN, SAYS AIRMAN DODGE; CAN'T TURN 'EM OUT AT WILL

BY SERGEANT GEORGE DODGE.

Of the Mineola Aviation School.

The United States aviation corps has just now the greatest aggregation of college athletes ever brought together.

At Mineola flying school alone we could make up an All-American team in almost any branch of sport.

Take my own class for example. Out of the 45 men who entered with me, there were only five who were not college athletes of local or national reputation.

There was George Church, of Princeton, the tennis champion; P. D. Smith, of Dartmouth, shot-putter and all-round weight man; "Red" Tower, Harvard, son of the former ambassador, who has done some great stunts on the track; Carroll Wetherly, Lafayette football star, who was in France with a machine gun squad and is now back to fly for Uncle Sam; Bud Jacobs, of the Yale swimming team; Kilgore, ex-captain of the Penn lacrosse team, and lots of others.

The men in aviation whom I've come in contact with are the finest bunch of fellows in the world. Every man is full of red blood and pep and went in for flying because it offered the finest chance for adventure and clean fighting that ever existed. It's real man-to-man fighting in the air service—you aren't shooting at somebody ten miles off that you will never see—and this naturally attracts men of spirit and courage.

At first they would only accept for the aviation corps men with college training. Then they changed the requirements to include high school graduates who, in the opinion of the examining board, have the qualities a flyer must have.

Really first-class flyers are born, not made. You would think that a man who had been driving a racing automobile would have a big advantage over the fellow who has never handled any kind of a machine. But it doesn't always work out that way. Some of the men who have learned to fly quickest never drove an auto or handled any other machinery. Other men who were crack auto drivers never seem to get the knack of handling an airplane. It seems that if you are born to fly, you fly, and if you aren't, there is not much hope for you.

In an auto you have time to think out what you are going to do, but in an airplane you have to do the right thing first and think about it afterward. Everything happens so fast, thinking is impossible. The mechanical flyer who always looks ahead and tries to be prepared for all emergencies is not the best flyer, he doesn't react quickly enough when the unexpected happens.

Flying in itself is the finest sport in the world and when you combine aerial gunnery with it and get out on the front hunting the biggest game in the world, the German airmen, I am sure nothing can compare with it.

I don't see how any young American with red blood can resist the temptation to enlist as one of Uncle Sam's flyers.

EMBARRASSING.

[Columbus (Ohio) Journal.]

It must be rather embarrassing to a prominent member of congress, after attempting to alarm the nation by announcing in his impassioned way that President Wilson has usurped the powers of the legislative branch and is now a virtual dictator, to discover that everybody with any sense is glad of it.

The "Arabian Nights" stories were translated into English from the Arabic by Antoine Galland, a French savant and traveler, who died in 1715. He obtained them in their original form during his visit to the east as an attaché of the French embassy at Constantinople.

FROM THE SENTINEL PAGES 25 YEARS AGO

Dr. W. W. Barnett left last evening for Dixon, Tenn.

It is stated that there will be only about a half a crop of watermelons in Indiana this year.

William McKeehan, of South Wayne avenue, will retire from the house-building business and take charge of a sawmill.

Messrs. J. Derheimer, A. Schultze and L. Oddou have returned home, having been guests over Sunday of three of Decatur's most charming daughters.

Capt. W. A. Kelsey, living near Dunfee, was in the city yesterday and reports the haying season in his region fine and hay plentiful. He had just finished a four weeks' job.

E. J. Mason, the popular young traveling man for Louis Fox & Co., has accepted a position as chief book-keeper for a large mill in Arkansas. He will leave for his new home today.

Dr. E. L. Siver has gone to Kansas City in the interest of the Knights of Pythias convocate to be held in that city. The doctor is assistant commissary-general of this order in the United States.

Mrs. C. H. Philley and Miss Anna Philley arrived home this morning. Hiram Philley met them at Crestline. The ladies have been spending several weeks with relatives in the New England states.

Charles Compere is in receipt of a letter from Mrs. Compere stating that herself and daughters, the Misses Emma and Lena, will return home this week. The ladies were delegates to the Christian Endeavor convention held in New York last month.

The county commissioners have granted for the extension of their street car line from its present terminus to the gates of the Driving park and already the roadside is graded for the track. They will have cars running for the fall race meeting.

Thomas Clements, of Liverpool, England, and his sister, Mrs. William Alcock, of Adrian, Mich., are visiting their brother, William Clements, of 57 West Williams street. It has been twenty-seven years since the brothers have met and it has been thirty-eight years since Thomas has seen his sister, Mrs. Alcock.

Uncle Harry Tells About The Prisoners of War

"The other night in telling us about the war's losses you spoke about the prisoners; won't you tell us about them?" asked Helen.

"They'll go back to their own countries when the war is over, won't they?" asked Jimmy.

"Yes, the soldiers taken as prisoners by each side will be returned to their own countries when peace comes," said Uncle Harry, "and, practically without exception, they will be wiser and better men."

"What do you mean, Uncle Harry?"

I thought all prisoners of war suffered terribly in their prisons," said Joe.

"Most of them did in the civil war, didn't they?"

"Many of the soldiers taken as prisoners in the civil war did have horrible experiences," said Uncle Harry.

"And so have many of the soldiers captured in the present war, especially those captured in the early part of Berlin, Germany admitted that more than 300,000 of her soldiers had been taken prisoners, and when you remember that the French have also lost heavily in prisoners, and add to these the English, Belgians, Italians, Austrians, Serbians, Rumanians, Bulgarians, Turks and Nonnengrains that have been captured in the hundred of battles, you can readily see that the total number of prisoners must run even over 3,000,000."

"Uncle Harry, you said that some of the prisoners were really enjoying themselves; which ones did you mean?"

Tell us about them," said Joe.

"I had in mind particularly the German prisoners in England," said Uncle Harry. "There are about 70,000 of them, as I said, and the British government has spent millions of dollars taking care of them—and it's a good care that has been given them, too.

Their camps are regular villages, with houses especially built for them, stores

GERMAN PRISONERS

the fighting by the German and Austrian armies, and the Russian army under the czar. They were treated brutally and starved. Sanitary conditions were neglected and epidemics of disease broke out. There was typhus fever in some of the German prison camps and many of the prisoners died."

"Didn't the armies that had captured the prisoners want to take care of them?" asked Helen.

"They didn't have time to," said

Uncle Harry. "The war came so swiftly and continued at such a furious pace during the first six months or year that prisoners taken by Germany and Austria and Russia were neglected frightfully. Later, however, better care has been taken of the prisoners, and in some of the countries, particularly in England, the German prisoners, numbering about 70,000, are really enjoying life."

"About how many soldiers have been taken prisoners in the war?"

asked Jimmy.

"I can't give you a definite answer to that question, Jimmy," said Uncle

Harry, "but I can give you an estimate, which is about the best anyone can do at this time. Altogether I should say there are somewhere between 3,000,000 and 3,000,000 prisoners. You see, they are scattered among all the countries in Europe, and England and France hold quite a number of German prisoners in Africa, where almost all the German territories have been captured by the allies; and there are still others in Asia, where the Japanese have taken possession of German territory. Russia and Austria have undoubtedly lost the greatest number of prisoners, some reports being that more than 1,000,000 Russians are held in Germany and Austria."

"In a recent official report from where they can buy things with the money that has been sent them by their relatives and friends, workshops where they can make useful articles, athletic fields where they can play games, gardens where they grow flowers and vegetables, theaters where they give plays and churches where they worship. Among the prisoners are men of all trades, of course, including many cooks and bakers, and I wish you could have seen the pictures a friend showed me the other day of the great quantities of food that were being prepared for the prisoners' meals.

The British government has also provided herds of cows that furnish fresh milk and butter for the men, and I haven't any doubt but that these ex-soldiers are happier now than they have been at any time since the war started."

"I should think these prisoners would be very friendly toward England," said Jimmy.

"They are," said Uncle Harry. "In addition to the fact that the treatment they are receiving is human, it is also very wise treatment on the part of the English. The British government has selected this opportunity to make friends with these Germans, many of whom were suspicious of England before the war and feared being captured. When the war ends and they go back to their homes, they will carry to Germany a new impression of England and it will be a favorable one, and this one thing alone is going to be a big factor in keeping peace after it is once made."

Editor's Note—Uncle Harry will be glad to answer inquiries, either in this column or by mail, provided letters are signed with the full name and address of the persons writing. The correspondent's names will not appear on your scalp. Rub it in the Pompeian way (carefully described in booklet enclosed in every package) and soon your scalp itching will stop.

Pompeian HAIR Massage

The success of Pompeian HAIR up the roots of the hair to new life.

This massaging also opens the pores of the scalp to the wonderfully stimulating liquids in Pompeian HAIR

Massage. Dandruff goes. Your hair will become and stay healthy, vigorous and attractive.

State President Will Visit Here

MRS. RICHARD EDWARDS.

The local Equal Franchise League will hold an informal reception at 3 o'clock on Saturday afternoon at the University club in West Berry street, in honor of Mrs. Richard Edwards, of Peru, who is the president of the Indiana State Franchise League. Every one interested is cordially invited to be present. Members of the Non-Partisan League are urged in particular to come and bring friends. Mrs. Edwards will be the guest of Mrs. Fred McCulloch during her stay in the city. There will be a state meeting in Indianapolis Aug. 22 and 23, which it is hoped many Twelfth district women will attend.

manner on Tuesday in honor of Mrs. May Stewart of Fort Worth, Texas. Mrs. Harry Tietgen, of New York city, and Mrs. Harry Fleck, of Pittsburgh, on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Bowser.

Scherer-Vonderau.

Miss Eleanor Vonderau, daughter of Mrs. Fred J. Vonderau, and Mr. Arnold Scherer, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Scherer, were married on Wednesday evening in St. Peter's Lutheran church by Rev. C. A. Doeffler, pastor of the church. The bride party made a beautiful appearance. In it were Miss Laura Burk, of this city, and Miss Dorothy Vonderau, of Goshen, who were maids and Miss Alina Scherer, sister of the groom, who was honor maid, besides two flower children, Ruth and Anita Vonderau, who carried baskets of sunburst roses. The ushers were Messrs. Arthur Heine and Louis Scherer. Miss Hulda Elckhoff, of Indianapolis, sang at the wedding service. Prof. Schlundt was the organist. The bride presented a handsome appearance in a gown of white crepe de meteor with veil held with pearl bands and a shower of bride roses and swansons. The young girls of the bride party were gowned in rainbow tints of silk or satin and their flowers were pink Killarney roses. A reception to friends and a beautiful wedding supper were features at the bride's home after the wedding service. The rooms were decorated with many garden flowers, pink and white being the prevailing colors. The wedding cake was made by the groom's father, a well known baker, and it was certainly a handsomely built pyramid of sweetness and frosting. The bride and groom went to Chicago and a trip on the Great Lakes for their honeymoon and on their return will go to housekeeping at 2631 Florida Drive. The bride is accomplished and of a sweet and womanly nature that endears her to all who know her. Mr. Scherer has been employed at the countingroom of the Journal-Gazette for eleven years and has worked himself up to a position of responsibility.

Gerig-Roth.

The wedding of Miss Sarah Roth and Mr. Salara Gerig took place on Wednesday evening at the bride's home one mile east of Grabbill. The bride is a daughter of Rev. and Mrs. David Roth, and Mr. Roth officiated at the marriage ceremony. There were present immediate members of the two families and a few intimate friends. Mr. Gerig is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Eli Gerig, of Grabbill. The bride has been teaching in the Grabbill schools for several years and is very highly respected as well as an attractive young woman. Mr. Gerig has also followed teaching as a profession but at present is with his father on the farm. Rev. and Mrs. Roth lived in Fort Wayne for a number of years, and they and the bride especially have many friends here.

Kelsey Family Reunion.

The annual reunion of the Kelsey family will be held in Swinney park, this city, on Thursday, Aug. 30. BRING CROWDS TO FT. WAYNE

Weekly "Suburban Day" to Be Established by New Association.

WEDNESDAY TO BE MADE A GREAT DAY
All-the-Year-Round Trade and Entertainment for Out-of-Town People.

And now comes the Fort Wayne Suburban Day Trade association, a strong organization of business men who will unite their efforts to focus attention upon Fort Wayne as a great center of trade and entertainment.

All classes of business will be interested in the new organization. As shown by the list of concerns already enrolled, practically every line, including retail business, theaters, hotels, restaurants, opticians, confectioners, florists and many others, will be included by the time the members meet for the formation of their permanent organization, probably next week.

Every Wednesday "Suburban Day." The plan of the association is summed up by one of the leaders in the movement as "a united effort to make Fort Wayne a still more popular place of trade and entertainment for the thousands of people in nearby cities and farming districts. In order to do this," said he, "we have issued a general invitation to the business concerns of Fort Wayne to unite in an organization which shall conduct a campaign of publicity and education in a systematic way, and this will be entered upon just as soon as the permanent organization is formed."

"One of the primary features of the plan is to establish Wednesday of each week throughout the year as 'Suburban Day.' This means that on every Wednesday the people of Fort Wayne, whether members of the association or not, will take it upon themselves to give the visitors an especially good reason for coming to Fort Wayne, whether they come to trade, attend a theater, hold a family reunion or do anything else that a visitor might plan. The members of the association will, however, offer special inducements to the visitors to come on Wednesday. The theaters will have special attractions, the parks will be made more free for the use of out-of-town picnics and other gatherings, and the merchants will offer special inducements of trade in the announcement of 'Suburban Day Specials' through the columns of the newspapers well in advance of the coming of each Wednesday. In short, it will be the object of the new association to center attention upon Wednesday of each week in the whole year as the day when the people of the surrounding country and nearby cities will want to come to Fort Wayne, and when the people of Fort Wayne will be prepared to give them the very best of treatment in every way."

To Co-operate With Outside Merchants.

Those who are at the head of the new movement wish to make it perfectly plain that the establishment of Suburban Day is largely a plan of co-operation between the Fort Wayne business houses and the merchants of the smaller cities to give to the people a larger field of trade without resorting to the patronage of the mail-order houses or the big-city stores.

"We want the people of the smaller cities—Auburn, Waterloo, Garrett, Angola, Kendallville, Lagrange, Columbus City, Roanoke, Monroeville, New Haven, Ossian, and the dozens of other wideawake towns—to patronize their home merchants to the fullest extent," said one of the organizers of the new association. "We believe the home merchant deserves the patronage of the home people to the extent that he is able to sell the right goods at the right price. It is only when the people cannot secure what they want from the home merchant that we give a cordial invitation to come to Fort Wayne to trade. It is with the hope of making Fort Wayne a great common meeting place of thousands of out-of-town people that this movement has been started so splendidly. The enlarged patronage of the Fort Wayne stores and business houses cannot be won unless we deserve that patronage and we want to show first that we appreciate the coming of our visitors. Just as soon as the organization is perfected, we shall make a full announcement of our plans."

The organization committee is composed of Charles M. Mills, chairman, Ruride Dry Goods Co.; Robert Koerber, Trenkle & Koerber; George A. Dehm; A. A. Stentz, Walk-Over Boot Shop; C. A. Niebergall, D. & N. Pharmacy; D. N. Foster, Foster Furniture and Carpet Co.; W. H. Right Way to Seal Up Jelly

BY N. E. GOLDTHWAITE.

(University of Illinois.)

If jellies are to stand any length of time before using they should be properly sealed from the air. The glasses, having been filled completely with the hot jellies, should be set in a cool place for the contents to harden.

It is well to cover jellies slightly undercooked with panes of glass and harden them in the sun.

When the jellies are well set the glasses should be filled with hot paraffin (the jelly will have shrunk leaving space for this)—not merely melted paraffin, but hot, so all germs on the surface of the jelly will be killed and future trouble from them obviated.

Close with hot, clean covers and keep in a cool dry place.

MANY STONES PUT IN WAY

There is Said to Be Quiet Propaganda to Hinder Boys' Reserve Work.

More Lads Expected to Sign Up for Work Before End of Week.

That there is a quiet propaganda to hinder the work being carried on this week in Indiana in the organization of a boys' working reserve is the general opinion of those back of the movement.

This belief is borne out by the frequency with which the organizers hear the same objections voiced by parents, the principal one of which is that the organization is military in character and is a "subterfuge" of the government to get the boys into the army.

It is pointed out by those in charge that the government does not have to resort to subterfuge to get anybody into the army, and it has no present need, or any prospect of needing boys in military service. The fundamental purpose of the reserve is to help take the places of men called to the colors. The argument is made that there are thousands of boys who have no occupation during the summer months, after school hours and on Saturdays. If those boys were organized and set at tasks which they were willing to undertake and for which they were fitted, considerable service might be rendered to the nation, and the labor shortage certain to follow the drafting of men for the army greatly minimized.

There is nothing in the reserve to interfere with the education of the boys and it will not take a boy from productive occupation. While it is not thought the propaganda is organized or conscious, the situation is no doubt the result of a misunderstanding following the circulation of false ideas by thoughtless, but not necessarily unpatriotic persons.

Not Many Enrollments.

The process of enrolling boys for the United States boys' working reserve is being continued in Fort Wayne with registration reports being satisfactory but enrollment proving to be a disappointment. Out of 372 who registered in the four districts Wednesday night only 17 enrolled. Forty-one boys who work at night registered at the court house Wednesday afternoon from 2 to 5 p. m., of which number 10 enrolled, making the largest percentage of any of the districts.

Those in charge of the movement here are optimistic that more boys will enroll for the war work in the last three days of the week than before.

The results of Wednesday's registration and enrollment follow:

First district—South of the Pennsylvania tracks and east of Calhoun street, Hanna school, ninety-six registrations and fifteen enrollments.

Second district—South of the tracks and west of Calhoun, sixty-four registrations and one enrollment.

Third district—North of the tracks and west of Calhoun street; ninety-four registrations and no enrollments.

Fourth district—North of the tracks and east of Calhoun street, 104 registrations and one enrollment.

Directions to physicians who examined boys for the working reserve have been received by Mr. McCormick and they are given briefly herewith, as they cannot be sent personally to all who will make the tests. Those examinations are made without charge.

The general directions follow:

"Examine skin for any evidence of exanthemata, syphilis. Examine scalp for pedicul.

"Examine heart for evidence of lesions that would unfit for service.

"Examine chest for evidence of tuberculosis. Should examination disclose lack of development of lung capacity, give instructions in regard to regular habits, proper diet, fresh air and hygienic living.

"Examine teeth. Advise in regard to proper care of teeth and dental work, if needed. If teeth are bad, refuse certificate of physical fitness until fixed.

"Judge from physical examination of applicant whether indoor or outdoor work is best and so advise.

No Chance for Escape.

There is no chance for escape. After the registration has been completed the high school records will be gone through for the purpose of determining who has not registered.

Examinations are being conducted by Dr. C. J. Rothchild in the Unity building and Dr. Eric Crull in the People's Trust company's building. Boys may register at the different school buildings named above Friday and Saturday nights.

Louis Wilke, director of Pleasant township, will register the boys every night this week at Sheldon and Merline Farrell, director of Lafayette township, will register the boys Friday evening at the Center school.

Other important business will also be transacted at this gathering.

RAILROAD ATTORNEY COMING.

S. C. Murray, attorney-at-law for the New York Central lines, in a communication announced that he would be in Fort Wayne Friday and would meet with the board of works at 10:30 o'clock subsequent to the matter of the Sherman street subway and the vacation of a part of Barthold street.

Building Permits.

To the Indiana Engineering and Construction company for the erection of a three-story and basement steel and reinforced concrete building for the General Electric company. Estimated cost $145,000.

More Water Needed.

Fort Wayne is in need of some more water and according to plans it is possible that the well in Swinney park will be put to use and a pump similar to the one which was inspected at Garrett, Monday, will be installed. This would supply the west end residents with good water. The plan would be to pump it directly into the mains.

Levy Must Be Raised.

City Comptroller Baude states that there is no way around raising the tax levy unless someone can devise a different plan. He stated that he told the various boards when the budgets were prepared to cut out everything that was not necessary.

THE STORY OF GREAT RUSSIA TODAY

BY CHARLES EDWARD RUSSELL

The Daily Sentinel today announces to its readers the return to active work of its staff writer, Charles Edward Russell, who went to Russia on the Root commission by appointment of President Wilson.

Mr. Russell is now writing for this newspaper the story, in a series of articles, of what he saw and heard in great Russia, and his impressions. He will tell the truth about the revolution, the government and the thousand and one things of interest in that huge land—the truth as revealed to him in his double capacity as an American official and a conscientious reporter.

His articles will appear EXCLUSIVELY in the Daily Sentinel and its associate members of The Newspaper Enterprise association.

They will be by far the most important and interesting newspaper articles on the war to date.

They will reveal the inner workings of the Russian democracy, its hopes and aspirations, its plans and fears, as they could be by no one less than the trained observer that Russell is.

They will peer behind the mystery of that sudden revolution, pierce the obscurity that shrouds recent history, and bring into the light of publicity the motives behind the peasant revolts against the new authority and the hidden strings that seek to wreck the newest republic.

THEY WILL EXPLAIN KRENSKY, the "New Napoleon," not as he has been pictured, but AS HE IS; and they will detail the wonderful stories of Siberia's prison camps when they heard the word of freedom.

They will answer all the questions that anxious Americans are asking about Russia. They will be full of human interest and description of manners, customs and people.

Chiefs Come Back Home and Drop First Game to Muskies

Timely Hitting in Two Innings Off Cummins Proves Fatal to Warriors.

Even the sight of their own stamping ground after a long stay away from home failed to arouse the Chiefs to very great efforts yesterday, and they lost the first game of the series to the Muskies, score 7 to 2.

Two bad innings, the seventh and the ninth, in which the visitors got some timely hits off Doc Cummins, proved fatal to the warriors. In each of these innings the Muskies scored three times, after Kirby's home run had given them a one-run lead in the fifth. The Chiefs also had one big inning, the eighth, when they scored three runs, but could not push over the marker necessary for a tie.

It was Aaron's two-base clout to left in the ninth with three men on, which took the heart out of the Chiefs, when they might have tied things up in the final inning. The three markers which the warriors got in the eighth came on singles by Kelly, Miller and Roberts, a wild throw by the pitcher, and a home run by Aaron.

In the ninth the Muskies made an error, a pass and a hit put three on and then Aaron chased them all across with his smash to left.

The Chiefs did not offer much opposition in the final inning, going down in one-two-three order.

RALPH MILLER WILL FINISH SEASON HERE

Chiefs Secure Services of Local Boy Who Has Been With Waterloo.

Ralph Miller, local all around athlete, who was playing with Waterloo in the Central association until the breakup of that league, has signed a Chief contract and will finish the season here. Miller's playing attracted the attention of several major league scouts this summer, and while he is still the property of the Waterloo team, according to a ruling of the national commission, which says that a suspended league may retain its players for the next season, the Fort Wayne club may be able to retain his services for next season.

Miller played his first game yesterday, performing in right field. He made several good catches in the outfield and delivered a slashing single over second which helped in the run-getting in the eighth inning.

A deal is now pending whereby Catcher Harry Smith may be sold to the Pittsburgh Pirates. The deal had not been completed last night owing to the fact that Dreyfus could not get in communication with Vandagriff. The big catcher witnessed yesterday's game from the stands. Glockson caught in his place and put up a creditable game, stopping several wild pitches with his bare hand, and grabbing a high foul off the grandstand.

COLLEGE SPORTS

Before leaving for his summer vacation in Wisconsin Head Coach Ewald O. (Jumbo) Stehm, of the Indiana University football squad, gave out the revised Hoosier schedule as follows:
Sept. 29—Franklin at Bloomington.
Oct. 6—Wabash at Bloomington.
Oct. 13—St. Louis at Bloomington.
Oct. 20—Minnesota at Minneapolis.
Oct. 27—Ohio.
Nov. 3—Ohio state at Indianapolis.
Nov. 10—Open.
Nov. 17—DePaul at Bloomington.
Nov. 24—Purdue at Bloomington.

With the reorganization of the Indiana athletic staff athletics will be continued with full force. The names of the staff officials announced are as follows: Head coach, Ewald O. Stehm; assistant coaches, Dana M. Evans, Arthur C. Krauss and James A. Kase. A new man is being sought to take charge of the varsity baseball aggregation next spring.

Announcement is made that the University of Michigan will play Northwestern university at football here Nov. 24. It will be Michigan's first season as a member of the "big ten" since 1905.

Northwestern and Michigan have not met on the gridiron since 1901. On that occasion Michigan had her point-a-minute team on the field, but Northwestern, which was one of the best teams which Michigan defeated against any of her opponents that season. The previous Northwestern game in 1898 was as close as a football game could be, ending in a 6 to 5 victory for Michigan.

"Pettie" Driscoll, the Chicago National's utility infielder, has been accepted in the draft and will go to Rockford the first week in September. Driscoll is the first member of the Cubs to be accepted for the new national army. When the former Northwestern university football star took the examination the doctors declared him physically fit and most desirable. Driscoll did not claim exemption.

BOBBY BYRNE MAY BE IN WORLD'S SERIES

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 15.—Bobby Byrne may take in another world's series this year. It is said that President Comiskey, of the Chicago White Sox, is anxious to get Byrne to fill Weaver's shoes at third base and help the White Sox win the pennant. Byrne was given his unconditional release by the St. Louis club and is free to sign up with Comiskey. If terms can be agreed upon Byrne probably will be considered one of the luckiest ball players in the big leagues. Byrne was traded to the Pittsburgh club by Roger Bresnahan the year the Pirates won the pennant. Fred Clarke then sent him to the Phillies in 1915 and Pat Moran won the pennant and Byrne again shared in the world's series.

BARNEY OLDFIELD. LOUIS CHEVROLET. RALPH DEPALMA

(By Paul Purman).

World speedway records from one to twenty-five miles will fall at the Sheepshead Bay (N. Y.) speedway, said to be the fastest track in the world, Aug. 18, if three drivers entered in a three cornered race, can tune up their engines to do it.

The war has caused a falling off in automobile racing this year and many drivers are at the front, but Barney Oldfield, Ralph DePalma and Louis Chevrolet will be on hand to smash a few records.

In addition to the main event DePalma will go after records from one to ten miles, using a new airplane type motor, said to be the fastest engine ever used in an automobile.

The race will bring together the fastest drivers left in the United States, and may develop something new in types of machines used as Oldfield and Chevrolet are both said to have something up their sleeves to surprise their opponents.

HEINE GROH ONE OF GREAT THIRD BASEMEN OF TODAY

A few weeks ago when Ty Cobb was trying to break his own record of hitting safely in forty consecutive games, the eyes of baseball were upon him.

A few days ago a National league player, not generally credited with being a great hitter, performed a batting feat which for him was as great as Cobb's hitting in thirty-five consecutive games.

The player was Heine Groh, of the Reds, who batted safely in twenty-three consecutive games before being stopped in the last game of a double-header against the Boston Braves.

The hitting was the more remarkable as most of it was accomplished during the Reds' slump which violated them from second into fourth place.

All of which draws attention to the fact that the diminutive Cincinnati is one of the really great third basemen of the game.

There are some who would rank Weaver, Gardner, Baker and Zimmerman ahead of him, but if they are the margin is slight.

This year Groh has been batting right around .300. He was the first National league player to make 100 hits and his base stealing average does not rank much behind that of the best players in the league.

As a fielder there are few who rank ahead of Groh at the hot corner. Heine may not be as spectacular as some other big league third basemen, but he gets the results which win ball games.

LETTERS FROM COACHES SHOW COLLEGE SPIRIT

The spirit of athletics in our colleges is shown in these quotations from letters from Glenn S. Warner, coach of the champion University of Pittsburgh team, and Charles W. Mayser, coach of the Iowa state college team.

GLENN S. WARNER.
"We will lose a large proportion of our material, but if we lose every man on last year's team it would not deter our athletic authorities from going ahead with football and other athletics."

"There will be in the university students under military age and those who will be exempt and if athletics ever was a good thing, it seems to me now is the time they will be of more benefit than ever."

"I venture to say there is a larger proportion of athletes who have voluntarily entered military service than any other class of young men and it is obvious they will be much better fitted physically than any other class of men."

"I have no patience with these universities which have canceled their football schedules because their best players are gone. If football is a good thing it should be carried forward for those who are left in college and the question of whether or not a good team can be turned out should not enter into the consideration of the question."

CHARLES W. MAYSER.
"Why shouldn't football go on? What did the young fellows do in college before athletics took up their spurs time. I am sure we prefer conditions as they prevail at present. Our teams may not measure up to those of former years and the Roman holiday spectacular effect may be lacking, but the games will be just as hard fought as ever."

There are certain fundamental rules underlying all sport. Baseball is no exception. Treat a man fairly and usually he will do the same by you. Be just to your men and it is the rank exception who will take advantage of your justice. A manager must sometimes rule certain types of players with a firm hand but there is never a time when he needs to be a bully. If he thinks he does need to resort to such tactics he will find the fault in himself rather than in his men. Criticism is always necessary but it should rarely be destructive. Constructive advice is what most players need and profit by. It is certainly better to rouse a player's interest and enthusiasm by friendly suggestion than to find his resentment and promote a disposition to shrink by riding him.

No high order of intelligence is needed to disclose the fact that Pittsburgh is not the strongest club in the league. But I am well pleased with the boys. I am convinced of their co-operation and am very hopeful of the future. I can make no predictions, would make none if I were certain in my own mind of the results. But our club will be out there playing a steady, progressive type of ball or I will be the worst fooled man in America.

EXHIBITION GAMES.

To Shut Off Pacifists.
Action to put into effect plans of leaders to forestall any attempt at open discussion of peace in the senate appeared imminent when that body convened today. Present plans call for executive sessions to consider closing the doors for peace debate. Senators of the so-called pacifist group were expected to oppose the secret session program.

Steenbeke river was forced. The French and British are making further progress on the right bank of the river.

Marked success was won by the French on the Aisne front. A strongly held system of trenches on a front of one kilometer south of Aisne was stormed and four German counter-attacks were beaten off. The French also made progress in the vicinity of the Hartbeke monument.

The Austrian war office announced that four tons of bombs were dropped on the maritime arsenal at Venice on Tuesday morning, causing a number of fires. Three of the Austrian airplanes are missing.

The weekly French report of shipping losses records the sinking of one steamship of more than 1,500 tons and three of smaller size. The Italians lost six ships and five sailing vessels.

A London newspaper says that wounded American soldiers from the western front have just arrived at a hospital at Bath, England. Washington is without official information regarding this report. Dispatches from the American training camp in France last night said all American forces in France were reviewed yesterday, indicating that the entire body was still in training. The American military authorities have made elaborate preparations for treatment in American hospitals in France of the wounded, who ordinarily would not be transported to England. The report of the London newspaper may refer to wounded Americans serving with the British armies, of whom there are several thousand.

New Organization Disclosed.
It was the first time an American army had passed in review under its new organization. Machine gun line of platoons moved forward with four platoons abreast, each platoon being formed in column of fours. The space between the platoons being considerable, the head and front of the marching column were fully two hundred feet wide.

Each of the four platoons in a company seem full-sized companies under the old order of things in the American army. At the head of each regiment was a band playing regimental marches, one of which, called "Happy Helmsie," in Teutonic tones, much to the amusement of the French military officers.

Pack Mule Relocated.
An interesting incident of the review was the first appearance in line of new machine guns which are carried on small carts instead of pack mules, as formerly. Each cart is drawn by a mule and a driver by a soldier. The latter has a short but extremely interesting time training American mules. These little French vehicle mules being used to work in double, rather protested against single harness. The result has been that during the past week stray mules have been encountered here and there about camp with bits of crates and harness hanging very negligently about their necks. Even today some of the mules are inclined to be a bit playful, one dashing out of line just as he was passing the general. After a brief tour of the column in a wrong direction he decided to be good and the laughing driver soon had him in his proper place again. Some sent the carts by the reviewing party in a gallop, which rather recalled clown races at a circus.

The carts are so small and the drivers so large and all wielding long cracking whips. As the troops reached a point some distance beyond the reviewing party they reformed into columns of fours and thus stretched out they found their way along the roads. The brown mass seemed to pass as far as the eye could see.

Moving Pictures Made.
While the review was held at a point so remote that only persons attached to the army organization were permitted to see, moving pictures were made both by French and American official operators in order that the people throughout France and America can get an idea themselves of the impressive appearance the troops made when first assembled together. It was difficult to realize that they are the same men who landed in France a few weeks ago.

They were scattered in a dozen or more French villages and each regiment was assembled in a village where its headquarters had been. The new army regiments are modeled on the European standard, quite different from the old American regiments and when on the march yesterday in column of fours, the line seemed to stretch an interminable distance along the paved French roads lined with gaunt trees.

As the Americans passed through the villages enroute to the reviewing field, the French peasant folk gazed at them open-eyed in amazement and admiration.

They have seen much of the American soldiers individually and in companies since their arrival, but this was the first gathering in force of the new ally and the impression it made on the villagers, farmers and French soldiers on leave could easily be seen and appreciated.

Surprises the General.
The French, who have been training companies and battalions of the American army were also surprised and it can be truthfully stated that there was a distinct pause of surprise and admiration on the part of Major General Sibert himself, when at the head of the staff he reached the crest of the reviewing platform and saw his khaki-clad command depart upon a wonderful far-flung line before him.

"I was surprised at their facility at field maneuvers considering the fact that since they have been here their training consisted almost wholly of the technical side of trench warfare with all the new paraphernalia of offensive and defensive tactics."

Show Field Work.
During their spare time away from trench practice they have been drilled in close order tactics but today they had the opportunity to show what they could do in the field. The result was most gratifying and encouraging.

The place and hour of the review was not disclosed until the day before.

"Was this avoid a possible visit from a hostile airplane?" a young officer was asked.

Several officers commented on the fact that never before had the attempted nickname of "Sammy" seemed so unsuited and inane to the American troops as when stalwart, bronzed and splendid in every way they marched by in salute of Maj.-Gen. Sibert.

tion with the British on both sides of the road between Steenbeke and Dixmude, captured all their objectives and crossed the Steenbeke river, the war office announced today. Further progress is being made along the river.

The French made an attack on the Aisne and captured German trenches on a front of one kilometer. Four German counter attacks were repulsed.

GERMAN OFFICIAL REPORT.

Berlin, Aug. 16.—British troops yesterday unsuccessfully attempted to take the village of Vendin-le-Viel, two and a half miles east of Loos, on the Lens front, the German staff reported today. The British gains, it was added, were small.

The German statement says that in Flanders a second great battle has burst forth, the British infantry attacking the German positions on an eleven-mile front.

of one million acres. If the harvest weather were good, the condition of food supplies would be very satisfactory. The premier added there had been an increase in the sugar reserve.

Premier Lloyd-George announced in the house of commons that the reports of Field Marshal Haig had captured Langemarck. The premier said that 1,200 prisoners had been taken and that five guns had been captured, by noon today.

In addition to capturing Langemarck, the premier said, the British troops gained ground at many points. Severe fighting is continuing with the result undetermined.

law. Should the operators remain out it is assumed that the governor would fulfill his threat of seizing the mines.

Favor Federal Control.
At the conference of state representatives a sentiment in favor of federal control of coal and the price thereof developed early, as opposed to the Illinois plan for state control. Governor Capper, of Kansas, and Will Hays, of the Indiana delegation, spoke for federal control.

Trade Commission to Act.
That the federal trade commission expects to fix coal prices and that the president may appoint a man to enforce its mandates, was the information contained in a telegram from the federal trade commission to Governor Lowden. It was read to the delegates as follows:

"In order to avoid conflict in the coal situation we suggest a conference of your representatives as to coal prices with the federal trade commission and whomsoever, if anybody, the president may direct to put into effect the provisions of the Lever law. The federal trade commission will be charged with price determination and in the interest of public service we suggest that the phase be complicated as little as possible. The commission desires in every way to co-operate with you. By order of the commission,

Relatively high pressure covers the country between the Rockies and the Ohio valley, and a depression of slight intensity reaches southward from the St. Lawrence valley to the Carolinas. During the last 24 hours scattered showers occurred in the St. Lawrence valley, upper lake region, on the southeastern slope, in the central Mississippi valley and in the east gulf and south Atlantic states. The weather is somewhat warmer than the seasonal average in the north Pacific states and locally in the districts to the eastward of the Mississippi, but as a rule the departures from the seasonal normal are slight in the various sections of the country.

THE MARKETS

BEARS HAVE INNINGS IN GRAIN MARKETS
Peace and Better Outlook for Crops Give Setback to Prices

Chicago, Aug. 16.—Bears had the advantage in the corn market today owing to the continued prominence given to peace news and because of reports showing a general favorable crop outlook. Opening quotations which ranged from unchanged figures to 1/4c lower, with December at $1.14, to $1.15, and May at $1.12, were followed by a material decline all around. Influenced by the same conditions as corn, wheat went below $2 for the first time since the recent series of down turns began.

The close was heavy, 1 1/4c to 1 1/2c net lower at $1.12, to $1.13, December and $1.10, to $1.11, May.

The close was steady at $2.09 September, the same as 24 hours before.

After opening unchanged at $2. September, the market touched $1.99.

Oats lacked any aggressive support and sagged with other grain.

POPULAR WAR SHARES UNDER MUCH PRESSURE
Leading Issues Lose Large Fractions in the Wall Street Trading.

New York, Aug. 16.—The more popular war shares and equipments were again under a pressure at the beginning of today's trading, losing large fractions to a point. United States Steel also reflected slight reactionary tendencies with the motors, but Great Northern Ore, Shipings, Coppers, Oils and Sugars were irregularly higher. Ralls showed no material changes.

Unsettled became general during the morning, the weakness of New Haven, which fell to the new low price of 32 1/2, having an adverse effect in all other quarters, especially rails. New York Central fell 1 1/2. U. S. Steel dropped 1 1/2 to 12 3/4, and numerous other industrials and equipments rounded out to two points. Liberty bonds sold at 99.50 to 99.96.

Senator Watson Gives Light on Why America is in War.

Declaring the government had done all any government can do in the way of preventing hoarding up of food products, high prices and speculation, it was now up to the people upon whom the responsibility for producing and saving rested, Senator James E. Watson, principal speaker at Fort Wayne's first potato patch patriotic demonstration at Foster park Wednesday night, urged the people to save a greater part of what is wasted as a means of forestalling pinch times during the coming winter.

"The government can't do the thing," declared Senator Watson. "After all it depends upon the individual. Congress and the government are doing everything they can. It behooves us to go to the extreme limit, save all money you can, save everything while the boys are over in the European battlefields."

"Laws have been passed that I never would have voted for except in a time of war. Coal prices will now be fixed by the federal trade commission and if the mine owners don't like this they have the choice of allowing the government to take over their entire output or taking over the mines and operating them, allowing a fair price to the owners of the mine for their coal."

In this connection showing what the government had done to relieve the people, Senator Watson explained the power of the priority board. This board, he said, had power to put through freight where needed. For instance, to send food where it is needed quickly, coal where there is a shortage and expedite movements of troops. In addition to the government measures against hoarding and speculation, it is now made possible for the allies and the United States to have one purchasing agent in this country, and to away with competitive bidding, which will mean an enormous saving, said Senator Watson. The steps to prevent hoarding and speculation, plus the priority board, will be the things the government had done to prevent hard times during the coming winter. Senator Watson lauded the work of the potato patch patriots and other similar movements, but said that the pitiful part about it was that a great part of the produce grown would never be used. He said every year the same situation had been confronted. Apples, potatoes and other produce would lay on the ground and rot because there was no way of taking care of them until the time when they would be needed during the winter and early spring. The producers and the people themselves were unable to take these products off the hands of the producers at the time and the producers have been unable to keep them until the time when they would be needed, declared the senator.

55,000 MEN IN FRANCE.
Senator Watson shed some light on the question of the number of troops now in France when he declared that 55,000 American soldiers were now at the western front.

"There is a rumor," said the senator, "that this is not a popular war. One reason for this is apparent, it being that the line of action is 3,000 miles away. No army menaces this country, no navy threatens it. Nothing of this war has yet touched our shores. Fifty-five thousand men in France have gone away so silently no one knew. Many more hundred thousand will go before long.

Today's Beauty Talk

You can enjoy a delightful shampoo with very little effort and for a very trifling cost, if you get from your druggist a package of canthox and dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water. This makes a full cup of shampoo liquid, enough so it is easy to apply it to all the hair instead of just the top of the head. Your shampoo is now ready. Just pour a little at a time on the scalp and hair until both are entirely covered by the daintily perfumed preparation that thoroughly dissolves and removes every bit of dandruff, excess oil and dirt. After rinsing, the hair dries quickly, with a softness that makes it seem heavier than it is, and takes on a rich luster and a softness that makes arranging it a pleasure.—Advertisement.

"I care nothing about this war from a European point of view," said Senator Watson, "but I care everything for the American viewpoint. I care not who runs the railroad from Berlin to Baghdad, I care not who gets Alsace-Lorraine, I care not what kind of a government Germany has. As Lord Balfour said, 'We have no more right to impose a government on them than they on us.' We are in this war as a matter of self defense. Germany has murdered our citizens, Germany has sunk our ships. Germany has insulted our flag and that alone is sufficient cause for war."

"They laid down a barred zone and said your ships shall not come in this area of 1,400 miles or we'll sink them. No matter if these ships were hospital ships or what they were. Ships of mercy, love and charity. 'No matter what they are,' said the Kaiser, 'come in this 1,400 mile zone and you all look alike to me.' Then all countries, in the language of the street, had to say to William, 'You look alike to all of us.'"

Senator Watson in outlining what the United States is fighting for said that this country was not fighting to get rid of kings because this country is fighting with kings, and that the people of this country are helping France because they are helping themselves.

"The American name," declared Senator Watson, "will be vindicated when the war is over." Senator Watson then told of some of the history of European intrigue involving questions hundreds of years old. The first battle for Alsace-Lorraine was fought over 1,000 years ago, he said.

In speaking of the submarine menace, Senator Watson pointed out that the U-boats are sinking tonnage at the rate of twelve millions a year, while all that the allied nations can build amount to about four and a half million tons per year. With all the ships that all the allied nations can build they can just about keep even with the sinkings, was Senator Watson's point.

Senator Watson thrilled the vast throng which assembled to hear him with the patriotic fervor of his closing words.

He declared: "We've got to fight, we've got to win, we've got to bring Germany to her knees. America, the supreme ideal of the world, will go down as the most glorious page of the history of civilization, and America is living for and worthy dying for. The perfect man died on the cross. I have always felt that national sins were followed by national calamities."

"I believe that the American flag will reach heights never before attained, the flag of liberty."

Groves and Cook Speak.
Avery M. Groves, of the Journal-Gazette, and E. W. Cook were also on the program preceding Senator Watson. Mr. Groves made a stirring appeal to the patriotism of his hearers. E. W. Cook talked mostly on potatoes befitting the occasion.

The afternoon of the patriotic potato celebration was taken up with contests of various sorts, the success of which was due to the efforts of W. J. Vesey, chairman of the entertainment committee. The results of the contests follow:

NIGHT BOYS GIVEN CHANCE

They Will Be Given an Opportunity to Register Wednesday Afternoon.

MANY NOT SHOWING THE PROPER SPIRIT

Percentage of Enrollments in the Reserve Found to Be Too Small.

The enrollment of boys who work at night in the United States Boys Working Reserve will take place from 2 to 5 Wednesday at the court house in the office of D. O. McComb, county superintendent of schools. H. O. George has been appointed by the general director of the work, A. L. McDonald, to take charge.

The work of registration has proceeded fast in the four districts of the city since Monday, but those in charge of the work here say that the boys of Fort Wayne have not shown the right spirit in enrolling in the movement. There seems to be some misunderstanding, according to Director McDonald as to the work which the boys will do. No boys will be sent away from home by the government; in fact, they will not be sent anywhere by the government, but will simply be informed at various times by bulletins and by special notices of places where they may obtain employment consistent with the government's purposes. Director McDonald is anxious that the boys of the city do not fall behind the example set by their older brothers in the record made in the various national enterprises such as the registration for conscription, Red Cross, Food Relief, and other movements.

Registration Tuesday night brought in 319 boys of whom only a small percentage were enrolled for the war work. The figures on the four districts Tuesday night follow: District No. 1, 108 registered, 11 enrolled; District No. 2, 67 registered, 2 enrolled; District No. 3, 66 registered, 3 enrolled; District No. 4, 85 registered, 6 enrolled. Those in charge of the work here are at a loss to explain this situation as it has not been the experience other places that such a small proportion enroll out of the number registered. It is felt that there has been some misunderstanding somewhere as to the exact purpose of the Boys Working Reserve, although it has been stated many times, according to Mr. McDonald that the boys will, in no case, be taken away from their parents and in all cases of work being done it will be voluntary.

TYPOGRAPHICAL UNION HAS MUCH BUSINESS

Annual Meeting of Printers Resumes Work in Colorado Springs.

Colorado Springs, Colo., Aug. 15.—Delegates to the sixty-third annual convention of the International Typographical union today resumed business sessions after a delay spent in sight seeing.

Much business will be considered before the close of the convention Saturday, including the proposed repeal of the provision which permits a member of but ten years' standing to be placed on the pension roll at the age of seventy; a proposal to cancel the power of local unions to make contracts and give the same to a national committee. Plans to hold the convention annually in Indianapolis, with the exception of every tenth year, when it would be held in Colorado Springs, will be before the convention, as well as a proposal to eliminate all social features from succeeding annual meetings.

The ordinance would fix the salaries as follows: Chief of fire department, $175 month; assistant chief, $150; second assistant chief, $125; captains, $110; lieutenants, $105; others, $100; excepting the superintendent of fire alarm and his salary is fixed at $150 a month; captain of police, $120; lieutenants, $110; sergeants, $105; patrolmen, clerks, motorcycle officers and traffic officers, $80 for the first six months; $95 for the next six months, and $100 thereafter; police matron, $80.

The communication of Rev. Anthony Petrilli, of the St. Joseph's Catholic Italian church, asking the council to annex certain parts of Taylor street, west of the river, was referred to the committee of the whole.

It was decided to transfer $1,500 from the general fund to the maintenance fund. One thousand dollars was appropriated to the food production campaign.

A delegation of property owners were present at the session to urge the repeal of the gasoline tank ordinance. Jacob Hartman, chairman of this committee, was absent and no report was available.

MUST REPORT CHANGE.

Women Who Adopt Another Name After Registering Must Tell Board.

The registration clerks in charge of the work at the city hall state that those women who have changed their name through marriage since qualifying to vote at the city election next fall must report the change at once. It is known that several such cases exist in the city and it is well that such persons take notice, for if they do not they will undoubtedly be refused the right to vote when they appear at the polls.

M'NAGNY RESIGNS AS JOINT REPRESENTATIVE

Capt. Phil McNagney, of the officers' reserve corps at Indianapolis, following his commissioning as an officer, has tendered his resignation as joint representative for Allen and Whitley counties. It is not known at present whether the people of Allen and Whitley counties will desire an election to fill Mr. McNagney's unexpired term in the face of a special session.

Senator Marion E. Maston represents Whitley county. The house of representatives is largely republican, and an election would make but little difference after having caused considerable expense. The appointment of Captain McNagney to his military office made it necessary that he resign as a state official.

CHINESE IN TENNIS MATCH.

Boston, Aug. 15.—The Chinese players, Wu Wei and Plying, met A. B. Alexander and Harold Throckmorton, both of New York, in the national patriotic lawn tennis doubles tournament today. WIG-WAG FROM BUILDINGS.

Members of Signal Corps Are Learning Flag Signals.

Many people who have traveled along Calhoun street and streets that branch off of the main street are harboring stiff necks as the result of watching members of the signal corps sending signals from the top of some of the highest buildings. The officers announce that the men are fast learning the three code systems which are being used. The men will have arrived at an efficient point by the time the call to duty arrives.

Two Members of Company E Who Received Discharges Have Returned.

The boys have all recovered from the effects of sore arms. Only one member of this company became ill upon being treated against smallpox and typhoid fever. He was Frank A. Dunham, who was removed to Hope hospital when it was evident that he was suffering from an attack of malaria.

FOOD SITUATION NOT FULLY REALIZED HERE

Committee Grants Additional Sum to Carry on Conservation.

A continual talk of a drop in prices, the inability of the people of Allen county to realize the seriousness of the food situation, and a feeling of dependency on the national government has resulted in a lessening of interest in the food conservation campaign. Frank Hilgemann, chairman of the local food relief committee declared Tuesday, in substantiating the action of the relief committee in appropriating an additional $1,000 to carry on the work of the campaign.

"The people of Fort Wayne are not indifferent to the situation," said Mr. Hilgemann, "they simply do not realize its gravity. There is a continued talk of a drop in prices. I know of few things more improbable—unless the people come to their own rescue. The most practical and indeed the cheapest way to combat the cost of living is to make the ground give up food. No individual at Washington, no committee of congress, can change the situation unless individuals render their full support. If the people of Fort Wayne are waiting for congress or Mr. Hoover to come to their rescue without themselves lending a helping hand, theirs is to be a sad awakening," Mr. Hilgemann concluded.

A movement to obtain the support of the entire citizenry of the city is soon to be undertaken. The National Food Relief committee has had blanks sent out to enroll the women of the city in the campaign. These cards have been received here and will be distributed with the assistance of the boy scouts.

Summary of the Day's War News

The British and French returned to the attack in northern France and Belgium last night and preliminary reports indicate they have won considerable successes. The principal blow was struck by the British on a front of about 4,000 yards from the northwestern outskirts of Lens to the Bois Hugo, northeast of Loos. General Haig announces that his troops carried the German first line at all points and are making satisfactory progress. Hill 70, a German stronghold northwest of Lens which dominates the city, has been stormed by the Canadians.

Since the beginning of the attack on the northern end of the Franco-Belgian line which apparently has been selected by the British and French for their principal efforts in the summer campaign, the Canadians have been making steady progress around Lens driving slowly into the outskirts into this important center. The new attack on the front immediately north of Lens evidently is designed to close around the city from the north. If successful this operation may compel the Germans to evacuate the town without a direct attack on it, with the heavy sacrifices such a move probably would involve. The French attack was made near the coast in the vicinity of Dixmude. The official communication from Paris reports good progress west of the Dixmude road. London also announces gains by entente troops in the sector north of Ypres.

Active operations continue on the Aisne front. The French positions between Hurbise and Craonne were bombarded heavily during the night, but the Germans did not renew the infantry actions which have cost them such heavy losses in the last few weeks in their vain efforts to expel the French from commanding positions.

Former Emperor Nicholas of Russia and his family are being removed from Tsarsko-Selo to a secret destination. The decision to transfer them was reached by the council of ministers last month for "military and political" reasons.

The Russo-Rumanian forces have been compelled to yield further ground on the southern Rumanian front. Today's official communication from Petrograd reports the occupation by the enemy of a height west of Oena in southwest Moldavia, where the Austro-German forces are endeavoring to outflank the Russian army to the south.

Paris, Aug. 15.—The Duchesse de Noailles was robbed yesterday of family jewels worth more than 200,000 francs. The jewels were in a bag which the duchess laid on a counter in a Paris department store while trying on a hat. When she turned to go the bag had vanished. The police have no clue.

Officers, directors and all employees of the German-American National Bank and Trust company, will hold their fifth annual picnic Sunday at Viberg lake, on the W. H. Shambaugh farm, near Leo. A ball game and horseshoe pitching contest will be features of the outing. J. J. Disser, manager of the south side branch, is arranging the events.

AFFIDAVIT FILED FOR BOY'S ARREST

Civil Authorities Have Jurisdiction Over Carl Johnson.

An affidavit was filed with the police Wednesday afternoon for the arrest of Carl Johnson, member of a local military organization following word received from the war department that civil authorities have jurisdiction over the man.

Johnson was the lad who stole an automobile from the street in front of the Anthony hotel last Saturday evening and was arrested a short time afterward. The captain of the company of which he was a member demanded his release and it was granted by Judge H. Waveland Kerr at a special session held Sunday morning.

The prosecutor through Major Thomas F. Ryan, of the regular army recruiting station, telegraphed the war department for a ruling on the case. The police were looking for the young man Wednesday afternoon.

PRICES REACT WITH PEACE DISCUSSIONS

Wall Street Stocks Have Eccentric Course on War-End Talk.

New York, Aug. 15.—Peace negotiations were again a factor at the opening of today's market, stocks and equipments, as well as motors and allied specialties recording further reactions of 1 to 2 points. Rails and coppers were dull. The market became irregular before the close of the first half hour.

Alternate rallies and reversals marked the latter dealings, trading indicating greater caution pending more definite developments in the foreign situation. Shippings and industrials were the sustaining features, United States Steel gaining a point from its minimum. Maxwell common and second preferred yielded 2 to 3 points on the suspended dividends. Liberty bonds sold at 99.96 to 99.98.

MEET TO PROMOTE WHEAT PRODUCTION

Washington, Aug. 15.—Agricultural experts gathered here today for the first of the department of agriculture's conferences to stimulate the production of wheat next year. Just who will be appointed to represent the government in the two remaining districts in this city and also for the county board is a matter of contemplation as no appointments have as yet been made. These positions are being conferred on the responsible men of the community.

PLEAS DEMAND SOME NOTICE

Evidence is Given That Many Exemption Claims
Will Be Rejected.
COUNTY BOARD TO EXAMINE MORE MEN
Believed That Sufficient Number Has Been Secured in City Districts.

Exemption pleas demand the next attention of the various selection boards. Boards in districts 2 and 3 finished the work of examining conscripts called on second summons Tuesday.

There are a number of exemption claims that are attracting more than passing notice. Records of the various boards show that there are a surprising number of married men who have asked to be exempted on the ground of having dependent wives whose marriages have taken place since the registration and several since the drawing of numbers and notification to appear. There are five such cases in one district. One conscript who claimed exemption because of a dependent wife was married Aug. 7, another was married on July 18, others on June 24 and June 7. There is not much likelihood of these men being exempted.

Final Examination.
The board in district 3 finished its work of examining men at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon while the board in the second district finished at noon Tuesday. All the boards with the exception of the county district are of the opinion that enough men have been examined to secure the quota of men.

The county board will resume the work of examining men who were summoned on the second call, Monday morning. In the meantime the board has been busy itself with passing on exemption claims and examining the affidavits which must accompany the claims.

They Forget.
Two pitiful cases have been cited in one of the districts of the city. Men who are married and have three and four children each, forgot to file affidavits after they had claimed exemption. These cases must be carried to the district board, which will pass upon them. The time for filing the exemptions expired before the affidavits were brought in. Just what the decision in these cases will be is not known.

Attention was also called, in viewing the exemption papers, that a man who has been married for some time and who is a man of reputed wealth, filed claim for exemption on the ground that his wife depended solely upon his daily work for support.

Other Slackers.
In addition to these so-called slackers, Fort Wayne has a different variety of this species of men who are prone to show their "yellow streaks." Of 1,526 men who were called for examination in the three city districts, over one hundred and fifty failed to put in their appearance. In this number, of course, are included a small percentage of men who had already joined the colors. Others, however, will be found by federal authorities and without further consideration or examination will be taken into the conscript ranks.

It was ascertained late Wednesday afternoon that only fifty more men were needed in the city to complete the quota of men. More than this number will be gotten from those who filed exemption claims that will be rejected by the boards. This will mean that perhaps a small number of those who passed and waived exemption will get out from under the first draft.

HOOVER HEADS A CORPORATION TO PURCHASE GRAIN

Uncle Sam Launches a Fifty-Million-Dollar Company to Buy Control of the Wheat Supply.

WILL GUARANTEE MILLS ALL THEY NEED

Washington, Aug. 15.—Government purchase of enough of the 1917 wheat crop to stabilize the prices in the United States was forecast in the formation today of a $50,000,000 corporation by the food administration. The intention is to take over the entire harvest if necessary to maintain fair prices.

The corporation will make all allied purchases of wheat and flour and thus will stabilize prices to the allies. Through this arrangement, too, it hopes to secure itself against any possible loss.

The food administration will open agencies at all the principal wheat terminals, carrying on its transactions with the usual dealers. No commission charge will be made except to cover costs of operation. The price to be paid for wheat will be fixed by a committee under the grain division headed by President Garfield, of Williams college. This price the food administration expects to see maintained in private as well as government transactions.

Executive Officers.
The corporation will be put under the grain division of the food administration and its executive officers will be the same as the officers of this division, whose names were announced today as follows:

Herbert Hoover, chairman.
Julius Barnes, Duluth, Minn., president.
Gates W. McGarrugh, New York, treasurer.
F. G. Crowell, Kansas City, vice president.
Edward Chambers, Chicago, transportation director.
Curtis H. Lindley, San Francisco, counsel.
J. W. Shorthill, York, Neb., secretary.

Wheat Price Commission.
The personnel of the wheat price fixing commission was announced as follows:
Henry A. Garfield, president of Williams college, chairman.
Charles J. Barrett, Union City, Ga., president of the Farmers' union.
William N. Dock, Roanoke, Va., vice president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.
Eugene E. Funk, Bloomington, Ill., president of the National Corn Association.
Edward F. Ladd, Fargo, N. D., president of the North Dakota Agricultural college.
R. Goodwyn Rhett, Charleston, S. C.

Wheat Supply Mills.
Flour mills will be assured wheat at the price to be paid by the government and the food administration is ready to purchase for the mills all the grain they use. The mills today named a committee to co-operate with the food administration in a voluntary regulation of their industry.

Representatives of the wheat buying industry came to Washington today for a conference with the food administration on the government's plan to license the operation of all elevators. Detailed regulations drawn by the food administration and approved by President Wilson governing the licensing will be announced shortly.

Dr. Sulzer was a commission of three men, representatives of commercial and financial interests in Switzerland, sent here to represent their country in matters having to do with trade relations, particularly that of food supplies.

Madrid, Aug. 15.—Madrid is like an armed camp, because of the general strike. The bakers' having struck, bread for the inhabitants is being baked by soldiers.

Reports from San Sebastian, Santander, Coruna and Granada say that the situation in those places is quiet. No newspapers have been published, however, and the street cars running have been manned by soldiers. Trains, although delayed, are running normally.

The government has ordered the arrest of the principal members of the socialist party. The minister of the interior in a statement to the press said that while the police were searching a house yesterday they found City Councilor Largo Caballero, a socialist leader, concealed under a mattress while behind some curtains were four other members of the socialist committee. The minister of the interior averred that the movement had been stifled.

THE MARKETS

FURTHER DECLINE ON CORN AND WHEAT MARK

Receipt of New Grain Having Depressing Effect on Prices.

Corn and wheat, which began a decline the early part of the week, are still on the down grade, and there is every evidence of a further depression on the local markets. The influx of the new wheat is given as the cause for the decline in that market. Local millers quoted a price of $2.06 and $2.08 per bushel for this grain Wednesday morning.

Corn, which reached the mark of $1.75 on the city scales Tuesday, dropped still more Wednesday morning, one load being weighed, selling at $1.70 per bushel.

The new hay market remained practically steady, twelve loads which were weighed at the city scales selling for $11 to $12 per ton. Two loads of old hay brought $15.

Oats also remained steady, four loads on the city scales selling for 62 and 65 cents per bushel.

AMERICAN REVIEW IN FRANCE WAS THRILLING

GENERAL SIBERT'S FORCES PRESENT A BRILLIANT ASPECT

First Fighting Force Abroad Amazes
French and Delights Commander With Its War Shape.

AMERICANS HAVE DEVELOPED RAPIDLY

American Field Headquarters in France, Aug. 16.—The review yesterday by Major General William L. Sibert, of all the troops of his command in training for the trenches afforded a military spectacle of international significance and historic importance.

It was the first time that the troops of this particular unit of the American army in France had been assembled in its entirety and the display they made was deeply impressive.

There have been other review of American troops in foreign lands—in the Philippines, Cuba, for away Guam and Panama—but there seemed to be an entirely new meaning to the sturdy tramp of the men in France today. One saw in them the symbol of their country's new adventure.

General Very Proud.

"They made me feel very proud," declared Maj.-Gen. Sibert last night, "the sentiment of a small but enthusiastic little handful of Americans who were permitted to see the martial display. The setting for the review was one of beauty. It was held upon a broad, somewhat rocky plateau in the fields of France, rippling away in every direction, all green and brown with glowing corn and ripening grains. There were there picturesque little villages, white walled and red tiled, nestled amid the trees of matchless valleys. Occasionally these valleys were bathed in sunshine and again they were hidden in the gray of rain. The scene was one of changing brilliance and shadow, the deep blue of the harvest sky and August sun being covered by storm clouds, being driven along by a stiffening gale.

At one time during the review a rain-storm broke over the marching troops but it was only of brief duration and there was not a falter in any part of the line.

Booms Furnish Thunder.

There is an officers' bombing school near where the review was held, and loud explosions gave an air of war reality to the picture. Very early in the morning the troops were on the move.

Attached to his staff were half a dozen French officers, including the general of a famous division, all of whom were enthusiastic in their praise of the spectacle. Maj.-Gen. Sibert and staff slowly rode up and down before the various regiments drawn up at attention. The ground was staked out with American flags and when Gen. Sibert had taken up his position the immobile army began to move. The maneuvers by which it broke from regimental fronts into lines of platoon, arranged by companies and battalions, would have done credit to soldiers with years of training behind them.

New Organization Disclosed.

It was the first time an American army had passed in review under its new organization. Machine gun line of platoons moved forward with four platoons abreast, each platoon being formed in columns of four. The space between the platoons being considerable, the head of the front of the marching column were fifty two hundred feet wide.

Each of the four platoons in a company seem full-sized companies under the old order of things in the American army. At the head of each regiment was a band playing regimental marches, one of which, called "Happy Hielie," in Tautonic tones, much to the amusement to the French military officers.

Pack Mule Relegated.

An interesting incident of the review was the first appearance in line of new machine guns which are carried on small carts instead of pack mules, as formerly. Each cart is drawn by a mule and driven by a soldier. The latter has a short but extremely interesting time training American mules. These little French vehicle mules being used to work in double, rather protesting against single harness. The result has been that during the past week stray mules have been encountered here and there about camp with bits of crates and harness hanging very near.

lightly about their necks. Even today some of the mules are inclined to be a bit playful, one dashing out of line just as he was passing the general. After a brief tour of the column in a wrong direction he decided to be good and the laughing driver soon had him in his proper place again. Some sent the carts by the reviewing party in a gallop, which rather recalled clown races at a circus.

The carts are so small and the drivers so large and all wielding long cracking whips. As the troops reached a point some distance beyond the reviewing party they reformed into columns of fours and thus stretched out they found their way along the roads. The brown mass seemed to pass as far as the eye could see.

Moving Pictures Made.

While the review was held at a point so remote that only persons attached to the army organization were permitted to see, moving pictures were made both by French and American official operators in order that the people throughout France and America can get an idea themselves of the impressive appearance the troops made when first assembled together. It was difficult to realize that they are the same men who landed in France a few weeks ago.

They were scattered in a dozen or more French villages, each regiment was assembled in a village where its headquarters had been. The new army regiments are modeled on the European standard, quite different from the old American regiments and when on four, the line seemed to stretch an interminable distance long before the paved French roads lined with gaunt trees.

As the Americans passed through the villages enroute to the reviewing field, the French peasant folk gazed at them open-eyed in amazement and admiration.

They have seen much of the American soldiers individually and in companies since their arrival, but this was the first gathering in force of the new ally and the impression it made on the villagers, farmers and French soldiers on leave could easily be seen and appreciated.

Surprises the General.

The French, who have been training companies and battalions of the American army were also surprised and it can be truthfully stated that there was a distinct pause of surprise and admiration on the part of Major General Sibert himself, when at the head of the staff he reached the crest of the reviewing platform and saw his khaki-clad command depart upon a wonderful far-flung line before him.

In telling of his pride in his command Maj.-Gen. Sibert added: "I am particularly proud of the showing the men made today for they were not passing before admiring crowds of home folks or foreign friends. It was merely a military maneuver for the men and they did splendidly."

Show Field Work.

During their spare time away from trench practice they have been drilled in close order tactics but today they had the opportunity to show what they could do in the field. The result was most gratifying and encouraging.

The place and hour of the review was not disclosed until the day before. "Was this to avoid a possible visit from a hostile airplane?" a young officer was asked. "All I say to that," he answered, "is that I wish old brother Boche could have

London, Aug. 16.—The parade of American soldiers in London divided with the new Lens battle and the pope's peace the most prominent column of this morning's newspapers. The description of the march and incidents filling in some papers three columns.

The picture papers display many scenes of marching Americans at various points of the route. The editorials are enthusiastic over "one of the most stirring spectacles of the war" and refer to the deep significance of the appearance of the vanguard of America's immense army devoted to a heroic purpose.

"Yesterday is a day to be marked with a white stone in England's and America's history," says the Morning Post.

seen that show today. It would have given him a new respect for America's effort."

Several officers commented on the fact that never before had the attempted nick-name of "Sammy" seemed so unsited and lame to the American troops as when stalwart, bronzed and splendid in every way they marched by in salute of Maj.-Gen. Sibert.

INTERESTED BUT SILENT

Washington Quite Non-Committal Upon the Pope's Peace Proposal.

Attempt Will Be Made to Prevent Open Discussion in Senate.

Washington, Aug. 1.—The text of Pope Benedict's peace note, received here early today in cabled dispatches from London, discloses that it does not differ from the unofficial outline previously received.

The foundation stones of the pope's proposals for ending the world conflict are reduction of armaments, freedom of the seas, settlement of all international disputes by arbitration and that there shall be no retaliatory struggle for economic world supremacy after the war.

Study It Closely.

Publication here today of the text of the pope's proposal gave officials and allied diplomats opportunity to make a closer study of the Vatican's move for peace than was possible from the advance outline.

Officials while evincing much interest refrained from making any comment pending receipt of the official text of the pope's communication nor would they intimate the nature of the reply to be sent the Vatican. The official text was expected momentarily. The text of the communication served to strengthen the prevalent opinion that there is no likelihood of the proposals being accepted in their present form. That public opinion in the allied countries, insistent on a favorable decisive culmination of hostilities, will cause the offer to be rejected was generally conceded here.

To Shut Off Pacifists.

Action to put into effect plans of leaders to forestall any attempt at open discussion of peace in the senate appeared imminent when that body convened today. Present plans call for executive sessions to consider closing the doors for peace debate. Senators of the so-called pacifist group were expected to oppose the secret session program.

FRENCH U-BOAT LOSSES DURING WEEK ARE LESS

Paris, Wednesday, Aug. 15.—The weekly report of shipping losses gives one steamship of more than 1,600 tons and three of smaller size as having been sunk in the week ended Aug. 12 out of 1,010 arrivals and 1,025 clearances at French ports. Five French vessels were attacked unsuccessfully by submarines.

Senator Watson Gives Light on Why America is in War.

Declaring the government had done all any government can do in the way of preventing hoarding up of food products, high prices and speculation, it was now up to the people upon whom the responsibility for producing and saving rested, Senator James E. Watson, principal speaker at Fort Wayne's first potato patch patriotic demonstration at Foster park Wednesday night, urged the people to save a greater part of what is wasted as a means of forestalling pinch times during the coming winter.

"The government can't do the thing," declared Senator Watson, "after all it depends upon the individual. Congress and the government are doing everything they can. It behooves us to go to the extreme limit, save all money you can, save everything while the boys are over in the European battlefields."

"Laws have been passed that I never would have voted for except in a time of war. Coal prices will now be fixed by the federal trade commission and if the mine owners don't like this they have the choice of allowing the government to take over their entire output or taking over the mines and operating them, allowing a fair price to the owners of the mine for their coal."

In this connection showing what the government had done to relieve the people, Senator Watson explained the power of the priority board. This board, he said, had power to put through freight where needed. For instance, to send food where it is needed quickly, coal where there is a shortage and expedite movements of troops. In addition to the government measures against hoarding and speculation, it is now made possible for the allies and the United States to have one purchasing agent in this country, and do away with competitive bidding, which will mean an enormous saving, said Senator Watson. The steps to prevent hoarding and speculation, plus the priority board, were the things the government had done to prevent hard times during the coming winter. Senator Watson lauded the work of the potato patch patriots and other similar movements, but said that the pitiful part about it was that a great part of the produce grown would never be used. He said every year the same situation had been confronted. Apples, potatoes and other produce would lay on the ground and rot because there was no way of taking care of them until the time when they would be needed during the winter and early spring. The growers and the people themselves were unable to take these products off the hands of the producers at the time and the producers have been unable to keep them until the time when they would be needed, declared the senator.

65,000 MEN IN FRANCE.

Senator Watson shed some light on the question of the number of troops now in France when he declared that 65,000 American soldiers were now at the western front.

"There is a rumor," said the senator, "that this is not a popular war. One reason for this is apparent, it being that the line of action is 8,000 miles away. No army menaces this country, no navy threatens it. Nothing of this war has yet touched our shores. Fifty-five thousand men in France have gone away so silently no one knew. Many more hundred thousand will go before long."

"I care nothing about this war from a European point of view," said Senator Watson, "but I care everything for the American viewpoint. I care not who runs the railroad from Berlin to Baghdad, I care not who gets Alsace-Lorraine, I care not what kind of a government Germany has. As Lord Balfour said, 'We have no more right to impose a government on them than they on us.' We are in this war as a matter of self defense. Germany has murdered our citizens, Germany has sunk our ships. Germany has insulted our flag and that alone is sufficient cause for war."

"They laid down a barred zone and said our ships shall not come in this area of 1,400 miles or we'll sink them. No matter if these ships were hospital ships or what they were. Ships of

Mexico City, Aug. 16.—Sub-secretary of State Ernesto G. Perez last night sent instructions to Ambassador Bonillas in Washington to investigate alleged reports that Mexicans are being forced into the United States army. A number of members of the chamber of deputies called on President Carranza to ask that action be taken on the same subject. The house of deputies was expected to decide today whether they would adjourn until the regular session, September 1.

NEW ENGINES ON WABASH.

The 2-10-3 type freight engines now being put in service on the Chicago and St. Louis branch, are 90 feet long, weight 522,000 pounds and have tractive force of 70,000 pounds. They are superheated. The tender carries 10,000 gallons of water and 18 tons of coal. The engine will haul 100 cars containing 100,000 pounds, or a total of 10,000,000 pounds.

SOLDIERS FROM WESTERN FRONT REACH ENGLAND

WASHINGTON DENIES KNOWLEDGE OF IT

Bulletin: London, Aug. 16.—According to the Daily News some wounded American soldiers from the western front have just arrived at the hospital at Bath.

WASHINGTON HAS NO NEWS.

Washington, Aug. 16.—Neither the war department nor navy department has any information on the reported wounding of American troops on the western front. Prompt official announcement is promised when information is received, provided it is not incompatible with military interest.

mercy love and charity. "No matter what they are," said the kaiser, "come in this 1,400 mile zone and you all look alike to me." Then all countries in the language of the street, had to say to William, "You look alike to all of us."

Senator Watson in outlining what the United States is fighting for said that this country was not fighting to get rid of kings because this country is fighting with kings, and that the people of this country are helping France because they are helping themselves.

"The American name," declared Senator Watson, "will be vindicated when the war is over." Senator Watson then told some of the history of European intrigue involving questions hundreds of years old. The first battle for Alsace-Lorraine was fought over 1,000 years ago, he said.

In speaking of the submarine menace, Senator Watson pointed out that the U-boats are sinking tonnage at the rate of twelve millions a year, while all that the allied nations can build amount to about four and a half million tons per year. With all the ships that all the allied nations can build they can just about keep even with the sinkings, was Senator Watson's point.

Senator Watson thrilled the vast throng which assembled to hear him with the patriotic fervor of his closing words.

He declared: "We've got to fight, we've got to win, we've got to bring Germany to her knees. America, the supreme ideal of the world, will go down as the most glorious page of the history of civilization, and America is worth living for an worth dying for. The perfect man died on the cross. I have always felt that national aims were followed by national calamities."

"I believe that the American flag will reach heights never before attained, the flag of liberty."

Groves and Cook Speak.

Avory M. Groves, of the Journal-Gazette, and E. W. Cook were also on the program preceding Senator Watson. Mr. Groves made a stirring appeal to the patriotism of his hearers. E. W. Cook talked mostly on potatoes befitting the occasion.

ALLIES MAKE NEW FLANDERS SMASH AND GAIN GROUND

London, Aug. 16.—French troops in Belgium, attacking early today in conjunction with the British on both sides of the road between Steenstraet and Dixmude, captured all their objectives and crossed the Steenbeke river, the war office announced today. Further progress is being made along the river. On the Lens front where the Canadians made a capture of hill 70 and made further progress in the caverns of the French mining center, all German counterattacks, the official statement added, were repulsed.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 16, 1917.

THE POETIC ELEMENT.

The first raw conclusions of the world at large are, of course, that in the tribulation that has overtaken the Romanoffs the poetic element of justice enters. Perhaps that is true. Along with him in his exile to Siberia Nicholas Romanoff, late czar of all the Russians, will carry the reflection, poignant with many jagones, that he is traveling the fated road of uncounted thousands of Russians who have preceded him to that dreary land by the hard and autocratic dictum of himself and the crowned heads of his forebears.

Something more practical than poetic retribution appears, however, to enter into the conclusions that have dictated the severities with which the provisional government of Russia is treating the former czar and his family. There is more than an unreasoning suspicion that the fallen dynasty is ready to "come back" if such a political coup can be managed. It would be strange, indeed, if this were not true. The history of deposed monarchs and fallen dynasties is that in the breasts of the mighty no less than in the bosoms of the lowly hope springs eternal. The Orleans and the Bonapartes still dream their gilded dreams of a French throne restored, though it is well on to a century since the last king swayed France and near a half century since the Napoleonic dynasty went down at Sedan. But so it has gone the ages through, and so it is likely to go with the Romanoffs in Russia.

Since his abdication Nicholas II. and his family have been very comfortably quartered in enforced residence at the imperial palace in Tsarskoe-Selo, near Petrograd. Irksome, no doubt, it has been with many monotonies, but relieved by the association of familiar things and whatever can be conceived as humanly domestic in an imperial palace. So the imprisoned royal family has not fared badly at all. Perhaps it is lucky to be still living. The world has not yet recovered from its amazement that the revolution in Russia dealt so moderately with the deposed family and its connections. Deposed monarchs are not as a common thing entirely safe appendages of a liberated state. Any designs of the monarchial party in Russia would be crystallized about the czar, the young heir or some other member of the family and presence would lend inspiration no less than pretext and opportunity. Recently it has been detailed in dispatches from Russia that the loss of morale and the partial disintegration of the Slav armies were in large part due to the insidious work of thousands of former police and spies of the czar that had been hurried into the ranks to preach discontent and lay the way for a counter revolution, which consummation it takes no imagination or cunning of thought to understand as a thing dear to Berlin and the object of its extensive secret diplomacy and subtle espionage in Russia since the revolution.

The provisional government is taking time by the forelock in exiling Nicholas and his family and putting them where they can be better guarded and may be less readily reached by conspirators against the new state. There might, too, come a time when the spectacle of the czar and the czarina and the czarovitch and the grand duchesses of the lately reigning family in their prison so near the capital would excite compassion. A more acute peril might be that in case of a coup in Petrograd the deposed Nicholas in Tsarskoe-Selo would not have to be toted far to be made the re-enthroned Nicholas in the winter palace. Siberia is not so drear and desolate as it has been painted. Nicholas and his family are not going to the storied terrors of the quicksilver mines. Tobolsk, where they are to have residence, is a considerable city, which probably has a good market, movies and something that can answer to the late autocrat for a ballet. Nicholas and Alix might have fared much worse. The upsetting of the throne and the imprisonment of the czar and czarina provoked a voluminous citation of the fates of the sixteenth Louis of France and the haughty Marie Antoinette.

CANNOT BE IGNORED.

The peace proposals put forth by the vatican cannot be ignored, nor is there likely to be any want of serious attention to them on the part of the allies. To begin with, any peace proposal merits an examination and weighing, and surely one issuing from the vatican will be treated with not only all the respect it can claim, but with the most sincere hope that it may be found answerable to the difficulties of the international situation.

The promptitude with which allied governments have ascribed inspiration of Pope Benedict's humane essay to get a hearing from the belligerents for a proposal for seeking possible bases of peace to the Austrian government implies no imputation of an ex-parte interest of the pope in the concerns of the dual empire. Austria is well-known to be anxious for peace; to quit the war where it is and go back to the status quo ante and probably to join in any measures the world can agree upon for perpetuation of peace and the security of all nations, great and small. Austria has had a bellyful of war. It has brought her nothing but woe and it has cost her some of her imperial dignity and no small measure of her national independence. She is dominated today both in war and in government by Germany and could not pull out of the strife if she would. Very probably Austria has sought papal intercessions for peace on any basis that will save her integrity and lift the German incubus from her. The status quo ante, territorial restorations and a world league for peace would accomplish for Austria the most that she now desires and more than she can hope for either in the event of a German victory or an allied peace. The suspicion that the original impulse of the pope's proposals came from Germany is not tenable, though the sequel may disclose the fact. Germany is less ready to quit than Austria, though there can be no reasonable questioning of the thing that lies heaviest upon the heart of the German people in the mass. Prussianism, the dynasty and the war caste altogether without reason. Germany is concealing a most interesting and spectacular collapse if she is today anywhere near whipped. Her lines hold firm on all fronts, her armies are making something of a conclusion of the Russian debacle and her U-boats are today no less the great menace of democracy than they were half a year ago.

But the pope's peace proposals, no matter whence coming or how inspired, must have and will obtain a fair hearing, though upon their face they suggest much less than can form the basis of an enduring peace, much less than can vouchsafe justice to Belgium, Serbia and Poland. Yet, any peace proposals of the breadth given those in Benedict's letter to the belligerents, afford some ground for trial at getting together. These furnish, at least, an opportunity for a restatement on all hands of war aims and that gives each belligerent group an opportunity to disclose just how possible an early peace may be. The pope's proposals will not be ignored.

AS MAKING A SUGGESTION.

Fort Wayne's big show, for the proper glorification of the potato patch patriots was a more interesting event and a much greater success than a good many thought it would be. It brought out a large exhibit of potatoes and a better exhibit of a spirit that it is reassuring to see disclosing itself. And in this potato patch fete we see the possibilities of a greater and more comprehensive event that may as well be scheduled as a kind of harvest home festival in the broad national spirit and for which it is not too early to begin preparations at once. Those who were the promoters and organizers of the event just successfully completed can very handily continue themselves in office and go ahead with the preliminaries for the more pretentious festival six or eight weeks hence. The whole of Allen county can be included in the scope of the affair and if any other sections of the north-eastern part of the state want to come in to fuse their spirit of patriotism with our own and match potatoes and pumpkins and squashes and corn and whatever else will look good and toothsome and thrifty and as of help in the war, let them be invited to come along with us. Is it a bad notion? Muse over it, fellows, and you who made the potato patch patriots' fete day a success see what you can make of this.

The aspersion of Senator LaFollette as a non-patriotic or a disloyal American does the Wisconsin statesman some injustice probably. His job for some thirty years has been to oppose the majority, to keep himself in the limelight by fighting against what is—good or bad, it is all one to him—and making himself the center of turmoil and the figure in the spotlight. Aggressive patriotism, is common today in congress and out of it. LaFollette could not exploit himself much as a patriot, hence—

Motives.

Sometimes I sit here and wonder,
When the day's stern tasks are through,
Here and there a costly blunder,
Here and there a rank failure, too,
What the mother, who broods o'er me,
In that place for saints apart,
Would say, were she here before me,
Of the motive in my heart.

Would she understand I'm doing,
Day by day the best I can,
Though I please but few, pursuing
Savage tolls that make the man?
Would she smile in ways that never
Failed to heal me of the smart
In those days she asked me ever
Of the motive in my heart?

Would she see that I am trying
To paint truth all clear and fair,
In this world where Love seems dying,
And Hate blossoms everywhere?
Through the bustling and the halting,
Where black shadows rise and start,
Would she know, my mother waiting,
Of the motive in my heart?

Yes, I know my gracious mother
Would believe that all I do
Is but done dark wrongs to smother,
While I life the pure and true.
She would find there is no malice,
She would know I evils thwart,
And she'd see Love make a chalice
Of the motive in my heart.

Held by the great as somewhat in their way—
Must huddle in the pit and hear the play.
Our part's to pay, and that we never miss.
But when the farce is poor, we say our say;
And for our money, we, the actors, hiss!

BY L. HARPER LEECH.

The army of 1917 will be an army of bantams compared to the boys of '61.

The minimum height for the army used to be 64 inches. Now it's 61.

The army will be thinner, too.

Provost Marshal Gen. Crowder has given exemption boards a ruling from Surgeon Gen. Gorgas reducing the required weights for men of 64 to 75 inches in height from 5 to 10 pounds, according to height.

Chest measurements for men over 68 inches are reduced one-half an inch.

The height reduction made before the selective service law was put into operation on recommendation of the National Council of Research.

The council found the old standard—64 inches—had been adopted when the country was populated principally by the tallest races, North Europeans, negroes and Indians.

It retained, at least one-fourth of the southern Slavs, south Italians, Russians and Austrian Jews, French and Swiss would have escaped military service.

The 61-inch minimum contrasts poorly with the average heights of civil war soldiers. The average of 250,000 recruits for the federal armies was over 67 inches, the native Americans of Kentucky, Tennessee, Ohio and Indiana leading with an average of over 68 inches. New Englanders, Canadians and men from west of the Mississippi followed closely.

Swedes and Scots led the foreigners of '61; the Irish led both the English and the Germans who trailed last with an average of 65 2-3 inches.

All were big boned men of the tall, erect, outdoor work and cheap food.

Since that time have come the hordes of smaller men from the Mediterranean countries, descended from generations of town dwellers.

The civil war itself helped cut down the height of the native stocks, as the biggest men perished and left the smaller ones to be fathers.

As the bulk of the federal armies were under 21 years of age—few of the men killed had any representative in the next generation.

The physical results of the sweat shop and factories can be read today in the small men of the British armies recruited from factory towns, who are topped by the Frenchmen, in spite of the fact that France today tells the story of the Napoleonic carnage in the shrunken stature of her men.

Reports from various sections of the country show that there are whole sections of the population which have deteriorated in other ways.

The southern negro, once the huskiest of humans, still furnishes Jack Johnsons from the country and smaller towns, but in the cities a terrifying percent are hopelessly diseased. In some of the city districts populated by the men who work in large percent of the men are useless for soldiers.

Senator Pomerene's bill to take the rejects into training camps and "repair" them by good food, exercise, fresh air and minor surgery, points the way which should have been taken in time of peace if the country's manhood had received half the attention which has been given the hoxs.

The new ruling of Surgeon General Gorgas sending men with defective teeth to a dentist at government expense if necessary—is another revolutionary thing war has brought.

Both ideas probably will outlast the war, and some day the government will have inspectors and surgeons to keep up the human live stock, which makes up the United States.

Most of the physical defectives in America can be made into real men if given enough to eat and plenty of fresh air.

Simple medical attention often produces a miracle.

About live doses of hook-worm purgative has changed many a southern farm boy from a scrawny little runt into a six-foot giant in less than 12 months.

A gain of five inches in height in a year and a pound a week has often followed this simple treatment.

BY SERGEANT GEORGE DODGE, Of the Mineola Aviation School.

The United States aviation corps has just now the greatest aggregation of college athletes ever brought together. At Mineola flying school alone we could make up an All-American team in almost any branch of sport.

Take my own class for example. Out of the 45 men who entered with me, there were only five who were not college athletes of local or national reputation.

There was George Church, of Princeton, the tennis champion; P. D. Smith, of Dartmouth, shot-putter and all-round weight man; "Red" Tower, Harvard, son of the former ambassador, who has done some great stunts on the track; Carroll Weatherly, Lafayette football star, who was in France with a machine gun squad and is now back to fly for Uncle Sam; Bud Jacobs, of the Yale swimming team; Kilgore, ex-captain of the Penn lacrosse team, and lots of others.

The men in aviation whom I've come in contact with are the finest bunch of fellows in the world. Every man is full of red blood and pep and went in for flying because it offered the finest chance for adventure and clean fighting that ever existed. It's real man-to-man fighting in the air service—you aren't shooting at somebody ten miles off that you will never see—and this naturally attracts men of spirit and courage.

At first they would only accept for the aviation corps men with college training. Then they changed the requirements to include high school graduates who, in the opinion of the examining board, have the qualities a flyer must have.

Really first-class flyers are born, not made. You would think that a man who had been driving a racing automobile would have a big advantage over the fellow who has never handled any kind of a machine. But it doesn't always work out that way. Some of the men who have learned to fly quickest never drove an auto or handled any other machinery. Other men who were crack auto drivers never seem to get the knack of handling an airplane. It seems that if you are born to fly, you fly, and if you aren't born it's not much hope for you.

In an auto you have three things to think out what you are going to do, but in an airplane you have to do the right thing first and think about it afterward. Everything happens so fast, thinking is impossible. The mechanical flyer who always looks ahead and tries to be prepared for all emergencies is not the best flyer, he doesn't react quickly enough when the unexpected happens.

Flying in itself is the finest sport in the world and when you combine aerial gunnery with it and get out on the front hunting the biggest game in the world, the German airmen, I am sure nothing can compare with it.

I don't see how any young American with red blood can resist the temptation to enlist as one of Uncle Sam's flyers.

EMBARRASSING.

[Columbus (Ohio) Journal.]

Uncle Harry Tells About The Prisoners of War

"They'll go back to their own countries when the war is over, won't they?" added Jimmy.

"Yes, the soldiers taken as prisoners by each side will be returned to their own countries when peace comes," said Uncle Harry. "and, practically without exception, they will be wiser and better men."

"What do you mean?" Uncle Harry? I thought all prisoners of war suffered terribly in their prisons," said Joe.

"Most of them did in the civil war, didn't they?"

"Many of the soldiers taken as prisoners in the civil war did have horrible experiences," said Uncle Harry. "And so have many of the soldiers captured in the present war, especially those captured in the early part of Berlin, Germany admitted that more than 500,000 of her soldiers had been taken prisoners, and when you remember that the French have also lost heavily in prisoners, and add to these the English, Belgians, Italians, Austrians, Serbians, Rumanians, Bulgarians, Turks and Montenegrins that have been captured in the hundred of battles, you can readily see that the total number of prisoners must run even over 3,000,000.

"Uncle Harry, you said that some of the prisoners were really enjoying themselves; which ones did you mean? Tell us about them," said Joe.

"I had in mind particularly the German prisoners in England," said Uncle Harry. "There are about 70,000 of them, as I said, and the British government has spent millions of dollars taking care of them—and it's good care that has been given them, too. Their camps are regular villages, with houses especially built for them, stores the fighting by the German and Austrian armies, and the Russian army under the czar. They were treated brutally and starved. Sanitary conditions were neglected and epidemics of disease broke out. There was typhus fever in some of the German prison camps and many of the prisoners died.

"Didn't the armies that had captured the prisoners want to take care of them?" asked Helen.

"They didn't have time to," said Uncle Harry. "The war came so swiftly and continued at such a furious pace during the first six months or year that prisoners taken by Germany and Austria and Russia were neglected frightfully. Later, however, better care has been taken of the prisoners, and in some of the countries, particularly in England, the German prisoners, numbering about 70,000, are really enjoying life."

"About how many soldiers have been taken prisoners in the war?" asked Jimmy.

"I can't give you a definite answer to that question, Jimmy," said Uncle Harry, "but I can give you an estimate, which is about the best anyone can do at this time. Altogether I should say there are somewhere between 2,000,000 and 3,000,000 prisoners. You see, they are scattered among all the countries in Europe, and England and France hold quite a number of German prisoners in Africa, where almost all the German territories have been captured by the allies; and there are still others in Asia, where the Japanese have taken possession of German territory. Russia and Austria have undoubtedly lost the greatest number of prisoners, some reports being that more than 1,000,000 Russians are held in Germany and Austria.

"In a recent official report from where they can buy things with the money that has been sent them by their relatives and friends, workshops where they can make useful articles, athletic fields where they can play games, gardens where they grow flowers and vegetables, theatres where they give plays and churches where they worship. Among the prisoners are men of all trades, of course, in fact including many cooks and bakers, and I wish you could have seen the pictures a friend showed me the other day of the great quantities of food that were being prepared for the prisoners' meals. The British government has also provided herds of cows that furnish fresh milk and butter for the men, and I haven't any doubt but that these ex-soldiers are happier now than they have been at any time since the war started.

"I should think these prisoners would be very friendly toward England," said Jimmy.

"They are," said Uncle Harry. "In addition to the fact that the treatment they are receiving is humane, it is also very wise treatment on the part of the English. The British government has seized this opportunity to make friends with these Germans, many of whom were suspicious of England before the war and feared being captured. When the war ends and they go back to their homes, they will carry to Germany a new impression of England and it will be a favorable one, and this one thing alone is going to be a big factor in keeping peace after it is once made."

Editor's Note—Uncle Harry will be glad to answer inquiries, either in this column or by mail, provided letters are signed with the full name and address of the persons writing. The correspondent's names will not appear in the articles.

Gen. Barry Praises Spirit of Unsuccessful Training Camp Applicants.

All of the unsuccessful applicants for the second training camp for the officers' reserve corps have received copies of a letter from Major Gen. Thomas N. Barry, commending the spirit which prompted them to seek entrance into the camp, even though they were not given places, because of the fact that there were six times the number of applicants that were authorized. Following is the letter received by the local men:

"Headquarters

"Chicago, Ill., August 13, 1917.
"The war department desires that you be informed that the number of applicants for the central department to attend the second series of training camps was more than nearly six times the number authorized. The examinations were directed to select from those who, from the papers submitted and their other evidence available, were in their judgment, best suited. From the foregoing you will understand the great difficulty the examining boards had in carrying out their instructions and making their selections.

The wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's immediate relatives. The bride's table was garlanded with smilax and gladioli and white roses, as well as a handsomely frosted bride's cake were the conspicuous decorations. GERMAN PRESS PANS EMPEROR ON WILSON NOTE

Copenhagen, Aug. 15.—Publication of Emperor William's telegram to President Wilson in the memoirs of ex-Ambassador Gerard and the large and belated attempt at explanation made by the semi-official Nord Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung calls forth criticism in the German press of what is termed the German emperor's irresponsible conduct of the foreign affairs of the empire. The various Berlin newspapers comment on the system which permits a sovereign to pass upon such a proposal from a neutral power and to draft an important state document without consultation with a responsible minister or even without the necessary record subsequently being made.

CALL HUBBY! HERE ARE HIS FALL STYLES

By BETTY BROWN.

About once a year the editor asks me to write something about men's styles. I find the new fall modes for men appeal more than ordinarily this year to the feminine eye. The styles, though smart and brisk, are still serviceable and sober enough to be devoid of flashiness. The war seems to have "spiced" them up. They are clean cut, and will make the wearer look alert.—This practical business suit is in brown serge, with invisible stripes. The patch pockets and bone buttons lend distinction.—An echo from the front is the adapted trench coat for men of fashion. It is roomy and convenient, easy to slip on and off, and comfortable on the shoulders. The model shown is in brown twill serge, fastened with bone buttons and relieved by deep pockets marked by two rows of stitching.—The golf enthusiast will be pleased with the clean lines of this suit of Connemara tweed. The coat, though roomy, is well fitted. A plaid cap tops it off.—Button shoes are the smart fall mode for both men and women.
